HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) - In what was called the largest show in history of the event, the aged cow grand champion of Eastern National Holstein Show became the supreme champion of the 2000 All-American Dairy Show at the Farm Show Complex Thursday.

Spreng La Highlight Kitty 2E 94, owned by Tracy and Lindsey Weiker from Republic, OH, caught the eye of the judges as the champions paraded around the large arena in search of the $3,000 top prize that went with the honor. Kitty previously had All-American and grand champion honors at the Ohio State Fair.

The other breed grand champions in the final competition were: Ayrshire grand champion: Stathburn Desting's Rosetta, shown by John and Marla Howman, J-H-How Farm, Massillon, OH. Rosetta was the first place 4-year-old and had won grand champion honors at the Ohio State Fair, and the Ohio Spring Dairy Expo. Her daughter was junior champion at the

'99 Ohio State Fair, and the 2000 Futurity winner.

Brown Swiss grand champion: Camp Swiss Supreme Faith, shown by Richard Martin, Doug Beaty, and Mark Campbell from Ford City, was the first place aged cow. Faith was the grand champion in Wisconsin in '98 and has two excellent daughters.

Guernsey grand champion: Cedar Fringed Altann, shown by Aaron Gable, New Enterprise was the first place 4-year-old. Altann was grand champion at the Maryland State Fair and has reserve All-American honors.

Jersey grand champion: Montour Hermitage Fame, shown by Tim Curran and Hogt Strandberg from Wapakoneta, OH was the grand champion. Fame was also reserve grand champion at the Ohio Spring Show and the Minn. State Fair. She has 26,000 pounds of milk ME.

Milking Shorthorn grand champion: Cate's Rebel Tangerine, shown by Peter Cate, Warren N.H. was the first place

BLOOMSBURG (Columbia Co.) — Bragging rights to the title of "largest fair in the state" are hard to dispute when you see two solid lines of cars, trucks, and recreational vehicles streaming into the fairgrounds at 10:30 on Monday morning of the Bloomsburg Fair. It's Senior Citizens Day and the 200-acre facility is flowing with people in both the concession stand area and the amusement and ride section.

But the real core of this 146th annual spectacular is the agricultural exhibits that include livestock and dairy, of course, but also a huge display of horticulture, flowers, vegetables, and field crops. Home economics displays and theme displays by organizations, especially the local grange units, fill several buildings.

Frederick Trump, president, said the fair began in 1854 but was chartered in 1888 with an emphasis on agriculture that still carries into today's fair. Trump believes the fair is representative of rural America and laments the fact that agriculture has declined in both the numbers of farmers on the land and the number of farm exhibits at the fair.

"Our fair is the showcase for the technical side of agriculture," Trump said. "But it is sad in a way, because it shows the plight of agriculture. We see for example a declining number of Grange exhibits because many of the people still in agriculture are older and the new modern rural American is unable to volunteer because it takes two incomes to keep the family going. At Bloomsburg Fair, we try to preserve the tradition of agriculture as much as possible.

"The changes I have seen over the years are especially noticeable in the attitudes of the people," Trump said. "We live in a world of TV that has created a nation of complainers that can sue over anything. It is difficult for agriculture to be free of this. I grew up here in this end of Bloomsburg and we kids used the fairgrounds as a playground. But we can't do that now because of legal ramifications. This would still be a great playground for our children, but legally we can't do it."

What does President Trump see in the future of Bloomsburg (Turn to Page A42)

KILE In 44th Year At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) is in its 44th year here at the Farm Show Complex, Oct. 4-9.

The exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep and horses.

2000 has been designated "Year of the Swine," so hog exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the swine industry. Eight major breeds will be shown. They are Chester White, Berkshire, Hampshire, Duroc, Poland China, Landrace, Spotted Swine, and Yorkshire.

In the beef area, KILE has been designated as a Simmental "Progress Through Performance" Show and as the Eastern Regional Hereford Classic Show. The Limousin Cattle Show has also again been designated a "Medal of Excellence Show, Level III" and the Shorthorn Cattle Show will be the official Pennsylvania State Shorthorn Show. For the first time, an American British White

Park Cattle Show will be conducted as part of the exposition.

The state's dynamic equine industry will be on display during the 2000 show. The Draft Horse Show is a qualifying show in the North American Six Horse Hitch Classic Series, with approximately 26 of the top rated Six Horse Hitches trying to qualify for next year's national competition. The "All Breeds Classic Series Six Horse Hitch Show" will be the Saturday evening arena performance at the exposition. One of the

Report Supplied By USDA

NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER
PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying activity was quiet today as buyer interest remained very cautious and selective. Supplies of breast items continued to exceed demand and remained ample and available at discounted levels. Dark meat items were readily available. Good seasonal demand continued to center around wings, keeping product closely balanced to well cleared. Movement into retail and distributive channels was only fair. The market tone was barely steady to weak on breast items, fully steady on wings, no better than steady on the balance of items.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer

ATLANTA, GA.

Sept. 26, 2000

Report Supplied By USDA

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds remained sufficient to keep the bulk of 2.5 and 3 pound sizes clearing satisfactorily. 3.5 pound and heavier weights were readily available and competitively priced in an effort to stimulate buyers interest. Live supplies were at least moderate; weights were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderately heavy. Less than truck-lot asking prices were unchanged at 51 to 65 cents. Trade sentiment was weak. Wings and giblets continued to clear well. Other parts were at least adequate for the light and spotty buyer. Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
Sept. 26, 2000
Report Supplied By USDA
Daily National Grain Market Summary
Grain and soybean bids were slightly higher for the day. The major support factors were good export interest, a slight drop in crop condition ratings for corn and beans and slow winter wheat plantings. Wheat 1 to 2 cents higher. Corn steady to 2 cents higher. Sorghum 2 cents higher. Soybeans 1 to 3 cents higher.
Winter wheat seeding is reported to be 21 percent complete which is behind the average 30 percent for this date. Some fund buying on the Boards also boosted bids. Egypt purchased a substantial amount of winter wheat overnight.
South Korea bought corn overnight and USDA showed a drop in crop condition last night for corn and soybeans. Both commodities are showing rapid harvest progress, however, many areas report poor bean quality. Some elevators are turning them down or very severe price discounts.
Due to late summer drought, pods at the top of the stalk did not completely fill out. They are only buckshot size, mixed colors, and cut green as they did not fully mature. This really hurt both quality and yield. Corn harvest is around 25 percent complete and beans 20 percent binned. Sunshine over the entire Corn and Bean Belts today after weekend rains and combines rolling full steam again.

UNIVENT Starter Pullet Cages Stacked with Manure Belt

Advantages

- simple assembly of 3 to 8 tiers;
- feed troughs are mounted on supports for trough stability and long service life;
- feed trough with inner rim provides minimal feed losses;
- upper walkway for batteries with more than 5 tiers = easy bird control;
- better thermal economy (reduced heating expenses and reduced investment costs per bird) is achieved with systems of 4 or more tiers due to increased density;
- remarkably low bird mortality during rearing.

CHARLIE BROWN TURNS 50

October 2, 2000, marks the 50th anniversary of Charles M. Schultz's comic strip, "Peanuts," which first appeared on this day in 1950. Now translated into 21 languages and published in 75 countries, Schultz's comic has been the most widely read and widely circulated comic in the world. The ongoing adventures of Charlie Brown, Lucy, Linus, Snoopy, and others are well-known to children and adults alike. Charlie Brown's beagle, Snoopy, born on Daisy Hill Puppy Farm and active as a World War I flying ace (at least in his dreams) was also a published success, renowned for his "It Was a Dark and Stormy Night."

The anticipation far exceeded the actual event.

—Snoopy, referring to his family reunion

The Building you want. The Lease you need.

Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 35 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated deductions: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings. Could reduce tax liability this year.
- Low upfront costs: Beginning costs as little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms start aggressively at five years but may be as long as ten, twelve, or fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules are specially designed to match your cash flow.

First: Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost.
Then: Call your Telmark representative for your financing.

OPINION

Biotech Supports Agriculture

The news hit the national wire services this week. The government is investigating whether some taco shells produced in Mexico from corn meal purchased from a Texas mill, which got the corn from farmers in five states, may contain a variety of biotech corn that isn't approved by the FDA for human consumption. Tests by an antibiotech environmental group were reported to find traces of the corn in taco shells purchased in suburban Washington. This variety of corn is the only biotech crop that isn't approved for human consumption because a scientific panel that advises EPA was unable to decide this summer whether the protein in the corn should be allowed in food.

So, this variety of corn should not be grown to be placed in human food and farmers should not put it where it might get there.

Consumers have the right to know the food farmers produce is of the best quality. On the other hand, biotechnology can improve the nutritional quality and the quantity of our food supply. Used under the proper restrictions, biotech food contains greater vitamin content, removes compounds that cause allergic reactions, and produces meat, milk, and eggs with healthier qualities.

The world's population will likely increase from six billion today to nine billion by 2050. Biotechnology can play an important role in alleviating hunger and malnutrition by making it possible to grow more food with added nutrition, on the same or less land while also sustaining the land's ability to support continued farming.

To Increase Farm Income

Farmers are faced with an abundant crop that is worth very little.

Even with a super yield this year, many farmers will be hard pressed to make the income generated by the crop pay all the expenses.

However, with the USDA Loan Deficiency Payment (LDP), income from crops may be increased even if the farmer feeds the crop to his own livestock.

While final details have not been approved, farmers will be eligible for payments even if the crop is harvested as silage.

There are a few requirements for the payment. First, in simplified terms, the farmer must have ownership of the crop from the time of harvest until the LDP is requested. Second, the farm where the crop is grown must have a conservation plan or have requested a conservation plan.

To request a conservation plan, the farmer needs to contact the county conservation district where the farm is located. In addition, the farmer will be charged a filing fee. According to the Lancaster Farm Service Agency office, that fee ranges between $30 and $35 for most farmers.

To Learn Details Of LDP

Farmers who grew corn, soybeans, wheat, barley, and oats and were not Production Flexibility Contract (PFC) farms also known as the 7-year program are eligible for Loan Deficiency Payment (LDP).

Payment rates for LDP are based on the date the crop was sold or fed. The payment rate for crops sold or fed this week was wheat $0.90 per bushel, barley $0.26 per bushel, oats $0.41 per bushel, corn $0.38 per bushel, and soybeans $0.75 per bushel.

If the corn crop is harvested as silage, the payment is calculated using the value of 7 bushels of corn for each ton of silage. For example, if the silage yield were 23.5 tons per acre, the corn yield would be 7 times 23.5 for a yield of 164.5 bushels per acre.

At the current payment rate, the payment for the corn crop would be $62.51 per acre of silage.

WRONG EXPECTATIONS

Background Scripture:
1 Samuel 9:1 through 10:27.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 119:1-8.

There are two different currents running through the Biblical account of Saul becoming the King of Israel. One of them is clearly opposed to the idea of Israel having a king, as in 1 Sam. 8:4-22 and again in 10:17-27, where God is represented as regarding the people's clamor for a king as a rejection of himself. The other point of view is equally favorable to the idea, as in 9:15-17, when God tells Samuel that he has chosen Saul to be king so that "He shall save my people from the hand of the Philistines."

Many Biblical scholars believe that two different written accounts are woven together in these passages with the two points of view remaining unharmonized. Both sources attribute their interpretations as coming from God. In one source, source A, God is favorable to both the monarchy and Saul as king, and in the other, source B, God is negative and accepts the wish of the people with great reluctance.

So which of these represents the true will of God?

I believe that perhaps both do; furthermore, God may be the source of both, even though they seem to be so in conflict. Often, that is how it is in life. On any issue there may be conflicting perspectives. Many issues are not black and white, right or wrong. We have to sift through the positives and negatives of various ideas and proposals.

Frequently we can see that fault is not always one-sided. Is that the case here?

Pros And Cons

There were definitely positive aspects of having a king to reign over them. The people wanted and needed human leadership. Perhaps judges were sufficient for both spiritual and temporal matters in the days when Israel first arrived in Canaan. But now they wanted a more centralized authority, a kingdom instead of a loose confederation of tribes. There was something to be said for that.

Our country was first governed under the Articles of Confederation, a much more decentralized and weaker form of government than that which replaced it under the Constitution. Americans realized that they would need a centralized government and ever after we have disagreed on just how strong that centralized government shall be. I believe there are cogent arguments for both more and less central government, for larger and smaller government. Despite the political slogans, truth does not reside on one side alone.

In the case of Israel, it is apparent that those who wanted a king and a kingdom won out eventually. Saul was made king of Israel. But does that mean that those who did not want a king were entirely wrong? I don't think so. There are always dangers as well as advantages in a strong central government as well as decentralized rule.

The U.S. Constitution was designed with a balance of powers. From the very first days of our republic we have struggled to keep each of those powers from becoming too dominant. One of the most important issues in the American Civil War was struggle between national power and states' rights. The war lasted only four years, but the struggle continues — probably to the everlasting advantage of our country.

A Warning

In source A of 1 Samuel, God

is interpreted as being reluctant to establish a monarchy and having Saul as the monarch. In chapter 8, God asks Samuel to spell out clearly the dangers of a monarchy: "...you shall solemnly warn them, and show them the way of the king who shall reign over them" and Samuel paints a pretty bleak picture (8:10-18). God also is interpreted as telling Samuel, "...they have not rejected you, but they have rejected me from being king over them" (8:7).

I see in this a warning to us all. We have and will continue to have to choose human leaders, but the danger is that we will give to them the homage that belongs to God alone and expect from them what only God can give. The problem may not be so much with the people wanting leaders, but in virtually deifying those leaders and demonizing their opponents.

Is it not true that many Americans will go to the polls in November, giving to the human candidates the homage and expectations that belong only to the Lord? In choosing between the presidential candidates, we are choosing between two human beings and neither of them can solve many of the problems we expect them to solve and their "solutions" to these problems will still be human solutions.

In choosing one person to be our President, you don't have to hate or disbelieve the other. Saul was both a "good guy" and a "bad guy."

Aren't we all?

Some suggestions if you are eating alone:

- Do not skip breakfast.
- Serve a combination of pre-packaged foods with fresh foods.
- Purchase already cut fruits and vegetables from the supermarket salad bar if you cannot use a large amount.
- If you are a senior citizen, consider community meals where you may socialize.

Whether you eat out or stay at home, make mealtime a pleasant, important time of day.

Feather Prof's Footnote:

Catastrophic Crop Insurance A Must For Bethlehem Grower

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
BETHLEHEM
(Northampton Co.) — Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association (PMCGA) Vice President Guy Wagner knows how important catastrophic insurance, or CAT, can be for producers.

Because of last year's devastating drought, Wagner recalls that the corn on 40 acres was so worthless he simply plowed it in.

CAT insurance for Wagner amounted to $60 per crop.

"I always took it," he said during an interview late in December at his farm.

Farmers experienced about a 70 percent crop loss in the county. "How could you not, especially the past year, when producers got less than half a crop?"

Ever since Wagner purchased the farm business from his father, Walter, in 1990, he has bought crop insurance for his 880 acres of corn and 400 acres of soybeans, for a total of $120.

As for CAT insurance, "most don't take it," said Guy. "They never thought the year could have been like this either. You just never know."

CAT insurance pays off only a fraction of the crop

Many Factors Go The Way Of Five-Acre Winners

GAIL STROCK

EMPORIUM (Cameron Co.) — She says farming is expensive, and would he like to try bowling instead?

The humor in LuAnn Reed's voice soon turns to pride when she talks about her husband, Jeff, farming part time on his family farm, and winning the 1999 Pennsylvania 5-Acre Corn Club

Award in the hand-harvest class with 204.3 bushels per acre.

Jeff and LuAnn Reed both work full time off the farm. In their spare time, they farm about 45 acres of cropland on his home farm plus an additional 60 acres on his father, Earl's, farm.

WHERE CAN YOU CUT CORNERS ON CORN PRODUCTION?

After last year's dreadful year, many corn growers are asking where and how they can reduce input costs in corn production.

The key is to focus on those inputs that give us the most consistent responses to our investment. Let's review how each of several common corn inputs have produced a return on investment in our trials here at Penn State.

One input you might think about is seed. In our trials there is often a large variation in performance—about 30 to 40 bushels per acre. So this input is not one to cut corners on. Some, but not all, premium-priced hybrids are top yielders. Check out independent data to get some idea how new hybrids perform.

Our trials have shown relatively low (3-4 bushel per acre) yield responses to the Bt gene itself under normal planting conditions, as have Unlike these other treatments, Poultry Guard Litter Amendment is easy and convenient to apply and needs no incorporation or activation. Fewer application variables mean more consistent performance. Using Poultry Guard Litter Amendment Is As Simple As...

A pply

Simply spread over poultry litter.

- No incorporation
- No moisture activation
- No complicated instructions for heating and ventilation in conjunction with application

B ird Set

Poultry Guard can be applied when it's most convenient, up to five days before bird set.

- No application timing headaches between clean out and bird set
- No last minute application after equipment has been lowered

C ontrol Ammonia

Poultry Guard will deliver immediate and long-term ammonia control and give birds a healthier growing environment.

- No more dangerously high levels of ammonia to stunt growth

You be the judge! We are confident this litter amendment will improve your poultry and your profits.

HerfNet Impacts
Commercial Marketing

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Buyers and sellers of Hereford-influenced feeder cattle now have the opportunity to use the new HerfNet marketing system that has been implemented by the American Hereford Association (AHA). HerfNet.com is a free resource that enables producers to advertise the availability of his or her calf crop to Certified Hereford Beef (CHB) feedyards, order buyers, stocker operators and commercial feeders.

Since the launching of the new marketing program on Aug. 15, there have been 10,000 head of feeder cattle on the internet listing and feedlot fax and HerfNet.com has had 1,525 visitors. The cattle have sold on the auction market, via video auctions and through ranch direct sales.

One advantage of using HerfNet is that it enables producers to group small groups of calves into load lots. This has already paid dividends for two Kansas breeders. After listing cattle on HerfNet, a Nebraska feedlot contacted the representative for the two groups and a few phone calls later the 68 head had been grouped together into one load and were sold off to HerfNet.

The contract was locked in three weeks prior to weaning and the cattle sold to a central Nebraska feedlot and are eligible for the CHB program. The producers received an 802-pound pay weight on the 8-10 month old pre-conditioned fall calves.

There are various options for listing cattle free of charge on HerfNet. The most popular option is by using the toll free number, 1-866-HerfNet (437-3638) connecting buyers and sellers directly with an operator who will take the information via the phone.

Other ways to list cattle include electronically filling out the candle tracker forms on-line at www.herfnet.com, or downloading the forms off the computer and faxing information to (816) 842-6931. The cattle will be listed 24-48 hours after the contact has been made and feeder faxes are being sent two times per week.

"We want feeders to know where, when and how they can buy Hereford cattle," Jim Williams, AHA director of feedlot operations, said. "By having HerfNet there is now a way for producers to find out what other marketing opportunities exist in their area. For example, we might find that there's an undiscovered opportunity to pool calves from a certain region or that a local stocker operator can buy the calves he wants right from his backyard."

It is important to know that while the listing serves as an information clearinghouse, AHA isn't entering the competitive on-line auction business. Rather the association is providing the free service of compiling seller information so Hereford feeder cattle buyers can easily and readily access a database of available calves and yearlings.

In addition to listing feeder cattle on the Web site there is also a commercial female listing that can be used as a marketing tool for groups of bred or open Hereford females.

There is also a special Hereford-influenced feeder calf sale listing so buyers know where to go for cattle, and once again sellers have the opportunity to combine small lots into loads. There are also plans to expand the HerfNet Web site to include on-line sale catalogs, semen catalogs and seedstock advertising. Internet users will also have 24 hour-internet access to the AHA database and more than three million pedigrees and records.

To find out more information about HerfNet and to learn how to take advantage of the new marketing opportunities contact 1-866-HerfNet or visit www.herfnet.com.

Okla. National Stockyards

Oklahoma City, OK
Wed., Sept. 27, 2000

Report Supplied By USDA
Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Feeder cattle 1.00-2.00 higher with good demand. Yearling cattle over 750 lbs in tight supply. Steer calves steady, heifer calves steady to 2.00 lower. Demand good for steer calves, light for heifer calves. Rains over the weekend of 1-3 inches in south central and parts of eastern Oklahoma gave some impetus to calf market. However major wheat producing and grazing areas still stone dry which kept enough calf market pressure to limit better demand to steer calves only. Weigh-ups improved and mostly average.

Flesh condition of feeders thin to medium, however large string fleshy.

Quality of calf supply average but fleshy. Quality of yearlings average.

Slaughter cows steady to 1.00 lower. Slaughter bulls .50-1.00 higher. Packer demand light with many cows returned to country. Total of 565 cows and bulls sold with 42 percent to packers.

Receipts this week 8838; last week 9184; last year 9324.

Supply consisted of 53% yearlings and calves over 600 lbs; 41% calves under 600 lbs; 6% cows and bulls. Heifers comprised 36% of feeder and calf supply.

Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

All-Breed Classic Series Six-Horse Hitch Set For KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Oct. 7, the Farm Show Complex Large Arena will come alive with the sound of thundering hooves.

The All-Breed Classic Series Six-Horse Hitch will begin at 7 p.m. An admission fee of $5 per person will be charged at the gate.

Six-horse hitches come from seven states and represent four major draft horse breeds.

In 1999, more than 300 six-horse hitches were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the U.S. and Canada. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) is again a qualifying show for the series final. Prize money totaling more than $38,000 will be awarded at the KILE Show.

The North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series is the ultimate driving event in the heavy horse world. KILE has been chosen as one of 45 recognized qualifying shows on the Classic Series Show circuit.

Each year all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region and beyond competing at qualifying shows. The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high-point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series all-breed trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world.

The stated goals for the Classic Series are "to increase the number of draft hitches on the show circuit" and to "increase public awareness of the sport of driving heavies, thereby expanding development of the draft breed industry."

The four major draft horse breeds that compete in the Classic Series are Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and Shires. Hitches are judged on conformation, manners, the proper fit and cleanliness of the harness, the appropriateness of the wagon, and the hitch's way of going. The stride of a draft horse at the walk should be long, one that covers ground, with plenty of snap. The trot should be stylish, giving the distinct impression of power and energy.

The sport of driving draft horses is continuing to grow and find favor with audiences across the continent. The Classic Series competition offers incentives for exhibitors and encourage breeders of quality hitch horses.

The stylish driving horses seen in the ring today are the result of countless hours of preparation and care that culminate in the brilliant performances you will witness during this Classic Series Qualifying Show Competition.

The real winner of the Classic Six-Horse Series is the spectator. More than 550 draft horses will be on display and it is expected that more than 20 six-horse hitches will be in competition for the Classic at the Keystone.

KILE Features Youth Contests

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 23rd Annual Keystone Stockmen's Contest, a youth activity in the program of the Keystone International Livestock Expo (KILE) Show, is scheduled Monday, Oct. 9 here at the Farm Show Complex.

The contest is open to all 4-H and FFA members. Each county or chapter is invited to enter one or more teams of three or four members.

These members will also compete as individuals.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. and the contest concludes at 4:30 p.m. This allows a group to participate in the contest, view the livestock and horse shows in progress, and return home the same day.

About 200 FFA members, 4-H members, and college students will enter the junior and collegiate judging contests at KILE. This keen educational competition is an excellent way to test live animal knowledge and verbal skills, providing students with valuable experiences for their future in agriculture. This contest begins at 8 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 7.

The Seventh Annual Keystone Arabian Horse Judging Contest will also be conducted. Prizes for this show are provided by the International Arabian Horse Association. This contest will be Monday, Oct. 9, beginning at 8 a.m.

Entertainment Scheduled For KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — 2000 has been designated as "Year of the Swine," so swine exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the hog industry and the high caliber of hogs shown annually at the Keystone International Livestock Expo (KILE) here at the Farm Show Complex.

KILE is in its 44th year at Harrisburg. The exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg Oct. 4-9.

At the 2000 show, the acts, booked primarily for Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, will amble around the Farm Show Complex putting on their show. For too many years, the only reason people had to attend the KILE Show was to look at the animals and one quick trip through the barns and they went home.

The first strolling act is musical. Mo Vint from Ontario, Canada plays harmonica music and sings. Kids especially enjoy the toe-tappin songs.

The second act is

KILE Selects PLA Youth Awards

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Livestock Association (PLA) has recognized outstanding 4-H and FFA youth for the past 24 years, selected from a field of candidates submitted by county extension personnel and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the commonwealth.

The male FFA Youth Award recipient this year is Douglas N. Wolf, son of William and Jean Wolf of Mifflinburg. Doug was a member of the Mifflinburg Area High School FFA for four years. His projects included steer, lambs, hogs, and goats. He graduated from high school last spring and is employed by Weis Markets as a diesel mechanic, as well as being an apprentice auctioneer. His record indicates that he has received many honors for his excellent record keeping abilities as well as awards for his market animals.

Jennifer Whitman is the female FFA Youth Award recipient. Jennifer is the daughter of Michael and Paula Whitman, Carlisle. Jennifer graduated this spring from the Cumberland Valley High School in Mechan-

In her community, Jessica was very involved with the Pennsylvania Winter Special Olympics and was recognized for more than 100 hours of service. This summer she has been employed at the Gap and is enrolled at Penn State University this fall, majoring in marketing and international business.

Douglas N. Wolf

Honors for the 4-H boy goes to Joseph Emenheiser, son of Ben and Sharon Emenheiser, Felton. Joe is in his senior year at Red Lion High School, York County. He has been a 4-H member for eight years. His major project has been market and breeding sheep. He has a flock of 45 head. As a member of the 4-H livestock judging team a couple of years ago, Joe helped his team place first in the state and represented Pennsylvania at the Louisville show. His community involve-

Sponsors Assist In KILE Production

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) is in its 44th year here at the Farm Show Complex.

The exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. KILE runs from Oct. 4-9.

To date, 70 major sponsors have committed funds to support KILE. A sponsorship program was put together a few years ago to assist in funding the show as well as to promote the show. With the revamped KILE program, many opportunities exist for agricultural companies and individuals to get involved.

University of Pennsylvania, School of Veterinary Medicine, New Bolton Center is sponsoring the Challenge of the Breeds Show Friday evening in the Large Arena. This event will pit 10 internationally recognized horse breeds — Appaloosa, Arabian, Half-Arabian, Percheron, Saddlebred, Paint, Quarter Horse, Morgan, Palomino, and Pinto — against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. Twelve horses chosen by their respective breed associations will be entered in the competition.

The Keystone Sovereign Champion will then receive $1,000.

Sponsoring the Kiddie Pedal Pull is Evergreen Tractor Sales, Myerstown. Dennis Grumbine, owner, reports that he chose the Kiddie's Pedal Pull to sponsor because of the close tie-in with the equipment business. The Pedal Pull will be Saturday, Oct. 7, at 3 p.m. The event is open to children between the ages of 3-8.

Kessler Meats has chosen to sponsor the daily "Kessler's Barnyard," as it is called, where kids of all ages can touch and pet barnyard animals. Kessler's Meats is located in Lemoyne.

Lebanon Valley Farmers/ Fulton Bank is sponsoring the Agri-Kid Olympics. Farm-related competitive events will be conducted for children, including wheelbarrow races, hay toss, and sack races. Kids will even learn how to auctioneer.

Pennsylvania Livestock Association is sponsoring the Keystone Stockman's Contest. It will be Monday, Oct. 9 and is open to any 4-H or FFA member in the U.S. and Canada. Last year, 502 youth participated in this contest.

Sponsorships at KILE are available in six monetary denominations from $50 to $1,000 +.

Sponsors receive show pins, ring announcements, plaques, display ads, pictures, and banners depending on the level of participation.

The show is indebted to its Diamond sponsors: Pennwoods Equine Products, Center Hall; Leroy Gray, Fairbanks, Iowa and the Pennsylvania Percheron Association, Boalsburg, are all major sponsors in the Six-Horse Hitch classes. Fieldstone Meadows Horse Farm, Dallastown, is a major sponsor in the Paso Fino champion classes and the Pennsylvania Draft Horse and Mule Association sponsors various mare and stallion classes.

Challenge Of The Breeds At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Friday, Oct. 6 evening arena program at the 2000 Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE), will be the Challenge of the Breeds.

This show pits 10 internationally recognized horse breeds — Appaloosa, Arabian, the Paint, Half-Arabian, Morgan, Palomino, Pinto, Quarter Horse, Percheron, and Saddlebred — against each other in an evening of fun and mastery.

These animals have been chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horse must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident or by a bonafide member of the Pennsylvania Breed Association invited to participate. The event is sponsored in part by the University of Pennsylvania, School of Veterinary Medicine, New Bolton Center.

The seven events in which each horse can be entered include:

- Pleasure driving. Horses are asked to perform both ways at a walk and trot.
- English pleasure. In English tack, horses will perform both directions at a walk, trot, and a canter.
- Hunter hack. In addition to performing on the rail, the horse will be asked to take two jumps.
- Western pleasure. In western gear, the horse will walk, jog, and lope in both directions.
- Western riding. The horse performs a prescribed course which demonstrates the performance of a well-mannered ranch horse.
- Barrel racing. A timed event in the clover-leaf pattern is performed by the horse.
- Timed obstacle trail class. Horses negotiate a series of obstacles encountered on the trail.

The horses will be judged at each of these events on a point system by two qualified judges. The winning horse will receive the distinction of being the Keystone Sovereign champion and will receive an award of $1,000. The reserve champion will be awarded $500. Placings will be paid through eighth place.

This marks the 11th time that a Challenge of the Breeds event has been conducted in Pennsylvania. Several of the six-horse hitch teams will also perform in competitive classes during the evening.

The show will begin at 6:30 p.m. on Friday evening, Oct. 6, at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Arena, Harrisburg, and the admission fee for the show is $5.

Local Veterinarian Offers Feedlot Health Tips

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, September 30, 2000-A25

BRICKERVILLE, Pa. — Local veterinarian, Steve Foulke, D.V.M., of Ag Vet Associates of Manheim, gave producers a crash course in Feedlot Health 101 during an annual cattle feeders meeting here in August.

The good news, he said is that prevention is the key. Identifying animals early, is essential because Dr. Foulke has found that most problems arise from lack of prevention. He told producers the most important tool in their medicine cabinet is their eyes. "Know what to look for and how to look for it, and never be afraid to ask questions."

"Things don't happen overnight," Foulke continued. "Walk the pen, and take the time to do it right. Make the cattle move. Watch the way animals walk away, or even if they walk away. Listen. Movement can produce the cough if it's there," He gave the crowd of 110 cattle feeders this observation checklist:

- look for reluctance to come up to the feed bunk or water trough,
- gaunt appearance,

- reluctance to move or rise,
- lameness,
- crusted muzzle,
- sunken eyes,
- rough dry coat,
- diarrhea,
- coughing, sneezing, nasal discharge,
- increased respiratory rate,
- drooped head and ears,
- arched back, and signs of straining to urinate.

Once you identify them, you need a "pull pen" he said. And proper handling facilities are critical. "If in doubt, take the animal's temperature. If an animal dies, have a necropsy performed by your vet or the state lab, or you can be trained to do it yourself," he stressed.

"That dead animal holds the key to avoiding losing dollars on treatments that do nothing and till haven't solved the problem." He told producers to "know what you have on your farm. That helps me make a targeted recommendation."

"Keep records," Dr. Foulke urged. "This is the most overlooked piece of equipment on the farm. In the future you will need to be able to document treatment records. Plus it tells you valuable information that we can look at to find patterns and solutions."

The meeting was sponsored by Agri Basics.

Herr Brothers' FFA Swine 'Corral' Generates A Lampeter Fair Market Champion

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

WEST LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Last year, Allan Herr Jr.'s brother Andrew stood in the champion spotlight at the West Lampeter Community Fair FFA Swine Show.

This year, it was Allan's turn.

Allan, 18, son of Allan Sr. and Amelia Herr, Millersville, won market champion with a 260-pound heavyweight champion hog, a blue butt gilt.

It was Allan's fifth attempt and a first supreme trophy at the Lampeter Swine Show for the Manor FFA member.

Allan, a 2000 Penn Manor High School graduate, studies business management at York Technical Institute.

The hog was purchased in April at the Holloway, Parlett, and Holloway Swine Sale at the Solanco Fairgrounds.

Allan said he selected the hog because it had "definite muscle and length."

Swine judge Dave Holloway, Glen Rock, said the hog was "heavily muscled, really sound, long-bodied, and clean-made" when he picked it for heavyweight champion.

Allan's brother Andrew, 16, won last year at Lampeter. But Allan noted both operate a sort of hog "corral," where both train and walk the hogs to ensure improved muscling and toning.

On Sunday, the champion hog was walked about a mile, "but we don't do that everyday," said Allan.

Allan's dad, Allan Sr., noted that when the family first exhibited hogs five years ago, "none of them made the weight." Allan was in eighth grade. It was Allan's work that helped Andrew develop swine exhibition skills.

In the 4-H market show, Tiffany Dean, who won champion market lamb earlier in the day, had a red-letter, blue-ribbon day, winning grand champion market hog. She also won champion lamb fitter and showman earlier in the day.

Tiffany, 14, is the daughter of Gary and Joan Dean, Strasburg. She's in the eighth grade at Martin Meylin Middle School.

Tiffany exhibited a 260-pound purebred Hampshire gilt purchased at the end of April from Ken Winebark, Myerstown.

Her grandfather, Bud Dean, of Valley's End Farm, Strasburg, presented the trophy.

At the show, there were 43 4-H and 54 FFA hogs. Following is a list of show placings.

USDA Inducts Four Members Into Newly Established 'Hall Of Heroes'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman recently inducted four champions of American agriculture in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's newly established "Hall of Heroes."

The four honorees are long-time leader in children's food and nutrition legislation former U.S. Senator Robert Dole, the international symbol for forest fire prevention Smokey Bear, world renowned agricultural chemist George Washington Carver, and eminent soil scientist Hugh Hammond Bennett.

"The USDA Hall of Heroes will be a living, permanent tribute to the contributions of distinguished pioneers of agriculture, past and present," said Glickman. "Today's charter inductees will be joined by other honorees in future years. All will be honored by plaques in the entry hall of USDA's Jamie L. Whitten Federal Building."

The following vignettes and notable quotes are etched on a plaque for each honoree:

• Senator Robert Dole: "National Leader of Nutrition and Farming Programs. Senator Robert Dole improved the lives of millions of American children and families through the creation of the federal nutrition safety net. His bipartisan work resulted in landmark legislation creating the National School Lunch, WIC and TEFAP programs, which provide vital nutrition assistance to those most at risk. His work helped give those most in need a better chance at dignity and success. Senator Dole now actively supports global school meals and education initiatives that will give children in developing countries a better chance at a healthy life. Senator Dole was an important link between America's farmers and improved nutrition around the world."

Notable quote: "What greater right is there than the right to eat."

• Smokey Bear America's Fire Prevention Bear (1944-present): "Smokey Bear lives in our hearts as the beloved guardian of the nation's forests. No other character has influenced the behavior of so many Americans. Two Forest Service artists, Rudolph Wendelin and Harry Rossoll, are largely responsible for Smokey Bear's look and character. Wendelin directed the many artists who drew Smokey, including Rossoll, one of the main artists. Their commitment to Smokey Bear, whose campaign has taught generations of children that preventing forest fires is each individual's responsibility, has helped save thousands of acres of our nation's forests. Smokey Bear will always be a revered 'citizen' in our American heritage."

Notable quote: "Remember, Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires."

• George Washington Carver — Father of Chemurgy (1861-1943): "World renowned for his scientific achievements, George Washington Carver was an educator, scientist, teacher, and agriculturist. He specialized in developing industrial applications from farm products (chemurgy). For many years, he served as the director of agriculture at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama and as a collaborator with USDA. Carver's most honored achievements in creative scientific research led to improved health and living conditions for the southern farmer. Among his many accomplishments were outreach efforts using the Jesup Wagon. George Washington Carver was, and remains, an inspiration to others."

Notable quote: "It's simply service that measures success."

• Hugh Hammond Bennett — Father of Soil Conservation (1881-1960): "Hugh Hammond Bennett combined science, passion, and political astuteness to make soil conservation a national priority and spark a worldwide conservation movement. In 1903, after graduation from the University of North Carolina, Bennett joined USDA's Bureau of Soils, where he soon determined that soil erosion was the biggest threat facing the American farmer. He became a tireless crusader for soil conservation, triggering the establishment of the Soil Erosion Service in 1933 and the passage of the act of April 27, 1935, creating the Soil Conservation Service in USDA. Bennett led the organization until 1951."

Notable quote: "Out of the long list of nature's gifts to man, none is perhaps so utterly essential to human life as soil."

Ridge Administration Makes Farm Preservation Easier For Pennsylvania's Farm Families

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State Agriculture Secretary Samuel E. Hayes Jr. recently hailed a state program that will make it easier for farm families to preserve their farms and will enable counties to protect more land from development.

"This program is a 'win-win' for Pennsylvania's farm families and for our communities who are working with Gov. Ridge to protect our precious farmland from encroaching non-agricultural development," Hayes said during an educational meeting about the program with central Pennsylvania county commissioners and county agricultural land-preservation administration board members and staff.

"For many hardworking farm families, the choice to preserve the family farm doesn't make sense financially, because they are unable to pay the capital gains taxes that are owed when the easements are paid to them in a lump sum. With the Long-Term Installment Purchase Agreement (IPA), payments to Pennsylvania farmers who preserve their land can be paid in installments, deferring the capital gains taxes owed until the final payment is made on the sale of the easement.

"The program also enables counties to leverage additional preservation funding because the easement purchases require less capital upfront. Counties are able to protect even more productive farmland, for future generations, with less initial funding."

Begun as a pilot project in 1999, the Long-Term IPA offers farmers who are preserving their farms a way to defer a sizeable final payment for a number of years. With this tool, they can preserve their farms and, at the same time, address the tax obligation of easements. Additionally, farmers can use the IPA to develop a plan that will earn them tax-exempt interest during the life of the agreement.

Tiffany's 'Baldy' Matures Into West Lampeter Lamb Champion

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

WEST LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — When it was born, the lamb that would be grand champion at the West Lampeter Community Fair Wednesday had no wool on its head.

That's why champion exhibitor Tiffany Dean decided to name the Suffolk/Hampshire wether "Baldy."

"It was born bald," said Tiffany, fresh off a lamb championship last week at Solanco. "It was a weird lamb, with bugeyes."

The 124-pound homebred lamb proved excellent in the show ring, maturing since its February birth adequately enough to appeal to show judge Clair Zerby, retired Cowanesque FFA adviser and 4-H leader and Dorset sheep breeder from Knoxville.

Zerby said he admired Tiffany's heavyweight champion lamb, something he admired for its length, he said. "It's a well-balanced lamb that is ideally finished for its weight."

Tiffany, 14, is the daughter of Gary and Joan Dean, Strasburg. She's in the eighth grade at Martin Meylin Middle School.

Tiffany, who also picked up grand champion 4-H market hog the same day at the fair, won before at Lampeter, when she first started, noted her father, Gary. "It's been a while," he said. "But she really works hard."

Tiffany swept the showmanship and fitting contests Wednesday morning. She plans to show at the upcoming Keystone International Livestock Expo and Farm Show.

Garnering FFA champion was Brad Leaman with his 118-pound purebred Suffolk wether, champion of the light heavyweight division.

and Jackie Leaman, Willow Street. The Lampeter Strasburg 10th grader and Garden Spot FFA member also raised a homebred lamb for FFA champion.

Brad noted his father helped select the lamb for champion. Brad won last year, he noted.

'An Awful Lot Of Good Hogs' At York Fair

JOYCE BUYP

York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — "There are an awful lot of good hogs here," observed York Fair swine judge Ken Fetterolf, Snyder County, as he prepared to wrap up three days of open and junior division competition with his pick of the supreme champion market pig.

"And this is the best hog I've seen in all the shows I've judged this year," Fetterolf added, offering the coveted banner and a hearty handshake to a widely-grinning junior exhibitor, Kurt Long.

Long, a 4-H'er from Airville, was doing a rerun of his earlier market hog championship in the junior division with an extremely long and lean, light heavyweight, crossbred red pig.

The junior division open market championship also earned Long the John Strawbridge Memorial Trophy, presented by the son of the late, long-time hog breeder and exhibitor, J.C. Strawbridge.

In the runoffs for the overall breeding class supreme champion hogs, boar honors went to the Rodger Bankert family, Hanover, with their Duroc breed winner. Supreme gilt was also the Duroc division winner, exhibited by the Bennecoff family, Kutztown.

Open class market hog breed championships were shared among several veteran and junior York Fair exhibitors. Youth exhibitor Allen Cornbower, New Freedom, won both champion and reserve honors in the Berkshire breed. Chester White champion was exhibited by Michael and Jean Weber, Shrewsbury, while Scott Lazarus, Germansville, had the reserve. Placing reserve behind Kurt Long's champion crossbred was youth exhibitor Lindsay Jones, East Berlin.

Winning open class Duroc market hog was exhibited by Rodger Bankert, with youth exhibitor Travis Flory claiming the reserve pot. Hampshire market hog honors were shared by youth exhibitors Cody Ault, champion, and Tyler Flory, reserve. Both champion and reserve open class Yorkshire market hogs were shown by the Wilson Farm of New Freedom, with youth exhibitor Russell Wilson claiming the top title.

In open class breeding swine, grand and junior champion Berkshire sow, senior sow, and reserve champion boar were exhibited by Arlie Cornbower, New Freedom. Reserve champion sow was the entry of Greg and Beth Innerst, Red Lion. Champion boar title went to Todd and Cheryl Bennecoff.

The Rodger Bankert family took both grand and reserve champion sow titles as well as champion senior sow. Reserve champion senior sow sent to Scott Lazarus, as well as the champion boar honor. Reserve champion boar was exhibited by Michael and Gene Weber.

Duroc grand champion sow was the entry of Todd Bennecoff, Jr., over the reserve exhibited by the Rodger Bankert family. Senior champion sow honors went to Wilson's Farm, over reserve winner Matt Bankert. Both boar honors went to the Rodger Bankert family.

Greg and Beth Innerst exhibited the champion Hampshire, placing over junior exhibitor Chad Menges, Hanover, with the reserve winner. Senior and reserve senior champion sow were from the string shown by Donna and J.C. Strawbridge, White Hall, Maryland. Both boar honors also were claimed by the Strawbridges.

In the Poland breed show, all honors went to Cheryl Bennecoff, Kutztown. Grant Lazarus III, Germansville, did a similar clean sweep of the Landrace classes.

Senior and grand champion, as well as the reserve, in the Spotted pig competition was won by Leslie Lazarus, Germansville. Lazarus also took champion junior sow honors, over reserve placer Larry Robinson, Delta. In the boar runoffs, Robinson took champion, over Lazarus in reserve.

Wilson Farm claimed most of the prizes in Yorkshire competition, taking junior, grand, and boar as well as reserve, honors. Showing the reserve senior champion was Allen Cornbower.

In the junior division of the swine breeding, Allen Cornbower took Berkshire grand and reserve honors. Aimee Bankert took breed champion with her lone Poland March sow entry, while Emily Robinson snagged both top honors in the Spotted Poland runoffs.

Duroc titles were split by Russell Wilson, champion, over the reserve winner exhibited by Matt Bankert. Hampshire champion was the entry of Lane Innerst, with Chad Menges bring up the reserve champion slot.

(Turn to Page A34)

Winner of the John Strawbridge memorial trophy at the York Fair was Kurt Long with this grand champion market hog. Presenting the award in memory of his late father was fellow junior swine exhibitor J.C. Strawbridge.

York Fair supreme boar banner was won by the Roger Bankert family's Duroc winner. With Bankert is judge Ken Fetterolf.

You can lower your cost of milk production and increase your Profits and Herd Health by having 1/2 acre or more per cow in GOOD Pasture, and still feeding some corn silage but cutting back on concentrates and stored feeds etc. With proper management and the right grass - clover - alfalfa mix this can be your most profitable acreage.

Ridge Hill Sisters Take Home Top Honors At Quarryville Holstein Show

MICHELLE RANCK
Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Lower numbers did not seem to take a toll on the quality of Holsteins shown at the recent Quarryville fair.

Robert Knutsen of Loudale Farms judged the event. Knutsen, a longtime 4-H leader, milks approximately 80 Holsteins on his farm in Rising Sun, Md., and judges 2-3 dairy shows per year.

The Holstein show was down in numbers from previous years. "I'm sorry there aren't more cows in the classes," said Knutsen, "because these cows could stand some more competition."

A pair of sisters gathered double prizes as they took home grand and reserve grand champion in the open classes. The girls, Stormi and Stevie Anna Greek, are the daughters of Leonard and Bonnie Jo Greek of Ridge Hill

Farm in Red Lion.

This year's grand champion placing went to a 4-year old Holstein who, according to Knutsen, is "milking well and still holds it all together."

"Ridge-Hill Charles Laura," a homebred animal, moved from the top of the 4-year-old class to grand champion Holstein for Stormi.

Stormi, a senior at Red Lion High School, also won first place in the senior division of the showmanship classes, with sister Stevie taking home a second place in the junior division. Stormi is currently looking at colleges to attend next fall, where she is planning to study elementary education.

A 2-year-old took home reserve champion. Stevie, 9, in the fourth grade at Red Lion School District, took home reserve grand champion honors with her homebred, "Ridge-Hill Sky Buck Molly."

Ridge Hill farm also took home a first in the best three female class, along with premier exhibitor and premier breeder honors.

Nicole Welk of Welk-Shade Holsteins won junior champion honors with her homebred heifer, "Welk Shade Astre Destiny." Welk, 10, in the fifth grade at Solanco School District, also took home grand champion Jersey honors with one of her animals and a class winner with another Jersey.

She is the daughter of Mark and Kris Welk. Welk picked the heifer out of four of her own animals at home.

Brian Mull, 18, of Mar-Muldale Farms, took home reserve junior champion in the Holstein classes with his homebred "Mar-Muldale Mandel Dana." Mull, a graduate of Solanco High School, is the son of Scott and Sheila Mull. Mull works on the home farm which hosts 125 cows.

Seventy-Five Hogs Compete At Quarryville Fair

MICHELLE RANCK
Farming Staff
QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Soundness went a long way at the recent Quarryville hog show, where 75 hogs were exhibited in the show judged by Daryl Bomgardner of Elizabethtown.

In the light heavyweight division, Mandie Holloway's hog showed soundness and good curvature of the knee, besides having good muscle expression, said Bomgardner, who awarded the hog grand champion status.

Tiffany Dean's champion heavyweight hog, according to Bomgardner, was sound and "extremely lean for the weight that it is at." Dean's hog went on to garner reserve champion placing.

Holloway, daughter of Clifford and Joyce Holloway, is a ninth grader at Solanco High School. Holloway gets 3-4 hogs a year from a cousin in Maryland.

This year only "Betsy" made the weight requirements of the show, which turned out to be a good turn of events for Holloway. Holloway keeps her hogs on her grandfather's farm within walking distance to her home, so she can make the twice-a-day trip to care for her animals.

Tiffany Dean, 14, took home reserve grand champion placing with her champion heavyweight hog. The daughter of Gary and Joan Dean, Strasburg, Dean is in the eighth grade at Martin Meylin Middle School.

Dean also competes in the sheep show ring in several fairs during the season. This year Dean's reserve champ came from a Myerstown hog farm and made an appearance at the 4-H Roundup before coming to Quarryville.

Both girls planned to sell their hogs at the fair's livestock sale.

A sales representative of Hooper Inc. in McAlisterville, Bomgardner is a Penn State dairy and animal science graduate, where he participated on the university's judging team. Bomgardner judges 5-7 shows a year.

Andrew Herr's hog, with its muscle expression down the top, sloped shoulder, and levelness captured lightweight champion honors.

"This hog has the biggest top, good bone, feet, and legs, and has natural skeletal width and is bold in her hip," said Bomgardner.

Reserve champion lightweight placing went to Allan Herr.

The middleweight champion, shown by Anna Mary Henry, caught judge Bomgardner's eye for the length of body and frame size, besides being compositionally correct.

Sarah Henry's lean, wide, hog took home the reserve champion middleweight award.

Light heavyweight champion was Mandie Holloway. Andy Hughes took home reserve champion honors.

Tiffany Dean took home the champion heavyweight spot. Reserve champion heavyweight placing went to Megan Herr.

State shows. She was honorable mention All-American sr. 2-year-old in '99

Because of the larger premium list, and extra effort to promote the show, officials were calling it the best national dairy show on record at Harrisburg. Plans are already underway for next year.

USDA Solicits Petitions To Amend Substance List In Organic Farming

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture invites interested parties to petition the National Organic Standards Board (NOSB) to amend the proposed National List of Allowed and Prohibited Substances (National List). Petitioners may recommend substances for inclusion on or removal from the National List.

The proposed National List is a part of the March 13, 2000, revised National Organic Program (NOP) proposal. The National List is developed by the NOSB, through consultation with outside experts, and forwarded to the Secretary of Agriculture for approval.

The National List identifies substances that may or may not be used in organic production and handling operations. Specifically, the National List identifies those synthetic substances that may be used and the non-synthetic substances that cannot be used in organic production and handling. All amendments to the proposed National List of Allowed and Prohibited Substances will be published in the Federal Register for public comment.

"Anyone may petition the NOSB," said Kathleen Merrihan, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. "Amending the National List should be a continuous process that reflects the latest body of knowledge available to the NOSB."

The NOP, NOSB, and the National List are established under authority of the Organic Foods Production Act of 1990. The act directs USDA to establish national standards governing the marketing of agricultural products as organically produced. The program's primary benefit is assurance to consumers that those products meet a consistent standard, thereby facilitating commerce in fresh and processed organically produced food.

Individuals wishing to submit a petition to amend the proposed National List of Allowed and Prohibited Substances or obtain additional information may contact Robert Pooler at USDA/AMS/TMP/NOP, Room 2510 So., P.O. Box 96456, Washington, D.C. 20090-6456; phone 202-720-3252; fax 202-205-7808 or via e-mail at robert.pooler@usda.gov.

The public comment period for the revised NOP proposal closed June 12, 2000. For more information, please see the program's website at <http://www.ams.usda.gov/nop>

DFA Board Issues $24 Million In Patronage To Members

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The board of directors for Dairy Farmers of America (DFA) recently approved and distributed $24.4 million in member patronage to dairy farmer members who marketed milk through the cooperative in 1999.

The allocation of earnings is equal to seven cents per hundred pounds (hundredweight) of milk produced and marketed by members in the 1999 calendar year.

"This patronage continues a commitment that DFA founders made to members in 1998," says DFA Board Chairman Herman Brubaker, a dairy producer from West Alexandria, Ohio. "That is, DFA is committed to pursuing a course of financial stability that is reflected through this time-honored co-op practice of returning earnings, in the form of patronage, to members."

Members, who were fully capitalized in DFA, received 100 percent of their member patronage in cash. Those, who were not fully capitalized, received 20 percent of their patronage in cash with the balance applied to their DFA equity accounts.

According to Charles Beckendorf, a Tomball, Texas producer who chairs DFA's Finance and Budget Committee, the cash portion paid out to members totaled $6.1 million. "The base capital program is critical to the success of DFA," nearing the completion of its third business year," says Beckendorf.

"Every dynamic business needs equity to sustain growth and build markets. The equity our dairy farm families hold in DFA allows us to seek out new market opportunities and maximize earnings through investment in modern processing facilities and joint ventures that add to the bottom line earnings of our organization."

Last month DFA announced the repayment of more than $25 million in previously invested equity by former members. Included in the equity retirement package was: $9.6 million to fully retire the equities of 9,300 members of predecessor cooperatives who last marketed milk through their co-op before 1991; $10 million in early equity retirement; $2.5 million in estate payments; $1.6 in over capitalized accounts, and $1.4 million for age retirements.

Certified Angus Beef Meets Lancaster County

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, September 30, 2000-A33

BRICKERVILLE, Pa. — Will Rogers once said: "Even when you're on the right track, if you're standing still, you'll get run over..." That was the quote Turk Stovall left with producers attending an annual cattle feeders' meeting conducted in August.

Stovall is Assistant Director of Feeder-Packer Relations for the Supply Development Branch of Certified Angus Beef (CAB), based in Manhattan, Kansas. After a roast beef dinner, the crowd of 110 cattle feeders from Lancaster and surrounding counties, learned about CAB's efforts to meet the growing demand for their beef products through the CAB Feedlot Licensing Program.

While he was here for the meeting, Stovall took a few extra days to get to know the area, the people, and see some good cattle. AB feedlot consultants Jim Hogue and Curt Umble, along with Pennsylvania's Beef Quality Assurance Director, Wendall Landis, served as tour guides.

Stovall told the crowd, "I got my Feedlot Nutrition degree in the Midwest, and I thought I knew it all. But after traveling to your feedlots here with Jim, I found out you are some of the most innovative cattle feeders I've been to."

"What took my eye, was the quality of the cattle fed here, the way they're put together, and the strong Angus influence in the feedlots we visited," Stovall said before the meeting, during a brief tour stop at the New Holland Sales Stables. "It's nice to see that here. In some areas, it's hard to come by."

Standing at ringside, watching the gavel fall on CAB-type cattle during the sale, he asked many questions about the various buyers and wondered aloud, "Where are those cattle going?" The wheels were turning, when it became obvious that most were not being purchased for CAB plants.

More impressive than the cattle, Stovall said, were the people he met. "There's nothing better than sitting down with salt of the earth people and talking about the industry, hearing their concerns and ideas, and seeing the unique style with which they do things."

He found producers were responsive and interested in the CAB feedlot licensing program. But he also received some feedback to take home with him on the obstacles, mainly the desire for higher packer premiums on CAB qualifiers. He also visited the Karl Hess farm in Willow Street. Hess has been doing custom feeding for cow/calf producers and recently dedicated a portion of his feedlot for CAB licensing, the first in the area to do so.

"This (feedlot licensing) program can help us both out. The feeder helps us make more certified product to meet the demand, and we partner with him to expose his name and feedlot through the Angus Association so he can get good Angus influenced cattle to feed," Stovall explained.

Presently, 80 percent of the beef processing plants in the U.S. are licensed CAB, but the acceptance rate for carcasses meeting the stringent quality and yield grade criteria is only 20 percent.

Meanwhile, CAB is moving more end meats through new product development, and more middle meats than ever before. They want to expand internationally, but they just do not have the volume to go where they want to go, Stovall said. Plus, CAB will be supplying heat and serve beef, including pot roast, deli items and all beef frankfurters for the venues of the 2002 Olympics.

Thus, the CAB feedlot licensing program was developed to get more Angus-influenced cattle into the CAB product chute. Currently, 49 feedlots are licensed in 14 states, a few of them in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia.

"Feedlots will play an increasingly important role in the coordination of the beef industry," he said. "Today, 2,075 feedyards sell 85 percent of the nation's fed cattle. The top 25 companies have 98 yards that account for 38 percent of all fed cattle, and the trend continues bigger every year."

But CAB doesn't think bigger necessarily means better in terms of achieving its supply development goals. "Size is not an HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "Hats off to the quality of Ayrshires here," said judge Larry Schirm. A sire analyst with Alta Genetics, based in Canada, Schirm was raised on a Jersey farm near Columbus, Ohio, and is now stationed in the Columbus area. A nationally- and internationally-recognized judge of all breeds, Schirm has judged at many U.S. and worldwide shows.

More than 200 Ayrshires competed in the Eastern National Ayrshire Show, conducted in the large arena at the 37th All-American Dairy Show. The Ayrshire show increased by 80 head of cattle exhibited from the previous year.

In the open junior show champion place went to J-M-How Farm and John and Marla Howman of Massillon, Ohio. Tai-Line Farm's summer yearling heifer, owned by Emily and Britni Thornburg, Winchester, Ind., took home both reserve champion placing. The Thornburgs won and best junior bred and owned awards.

Sunny Acres, Georgetown, N.Y. with animals owned by Douglas Evans, took home both champion and reserve champion places in the intermediate classes. Sunny Acres received premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards.

Grand champion of the open show John and Marla Howman, who also won the dam and daughter class. Douglas Evans took home reserve grand champion honors. Evans also went home with dairy herd, exhibitor's herd, and produce of dam top placings.

issue. The only objective we have is, we want people who are quality-minded, who want to feed high quality cattle, and do a high quality job — whether that's 50 head or 40,000," he continued. "A bunch of quality-minded feedlots, feeding 500 or less is better than one commodity-minded feedyard feeding tens of thousands."

To be licensed, a feeder must commit 25 percent of his feedlot capacity to Angus-influenced black-hided cattle. That percentage must then be sold to a CAB licensed processing plant. If the cattle meet the USDA-certified quality and yield grade specifications, they then receive the plant's CAB premium. There are basic quality assurance guidelines to follow, and the feedlot operator should be consistently working toward management strategies that enhance carcass merit.

"While the research tells us that certain management strategies have a positive or negative effect on carcass quality, we understand that you will have to make those decisions for yourself by balancing profitability with carcass value," Stovall emphasized. "We'll provide you with the resources, exposure to sources of superior cattle, unique services and suggestions. But we're not telling you what to do."

The cost for tags, enrollment and group data here is 50 cents per head. Moyer Packing is CAB licensed and provides producers, at no extra charge, the general carcass data information that would typically cost $2 per head. For the option of more detailed carcass data, the cost is $5 per head, which could be passed back to the cow/calf producer in retained ownership or other marketing and feeding arrangements.

"The answer is in the information," said Stovall. "If that information leads to the right genetics, the payback can be as high as $200 between the top percentage of the breed and the bottom percentage."

The meeting was sponsored by Agri Basics.

Sherwood Supports Pa. Agriculture

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — U.S. Congressman Don Sherwood of Tunkhannock supported Pennsylvania's agriculture industry 100 percent during the 106th Congress, according to an announcement made by Guy Donaldson, president of Pennsylvania Farm Bureau.

In honor of his commitment to Pennsylvania agriculture, the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau will recognize Congressman Sherwood for his steadfast support of legislative issues important to Farm Bureau members at the Susquehanna County Farm Bureau's annual meeting Friday, Oct. 6.

"Rep. Sherwood continuously voted in favor of agriculture concerning key programs before Congress," Donaldson said. "He has voted in favor of regulatory relief for farmers and has consistently garnered support for funding programs vital to production agriculture. As a result of the 1999 drought, Rep. Sherwood was a leading advocate of the need for additional funds for Pennsylvania's drought stricken farmers. During the 106th Congress, he has supported the expansion of agricultural export markets, permanent normal trade with China and labor issues. Congressman Sherwood steadfastly supported tax cut issues, such as the reduction of the capital gains tax and the elimination of estate taxes.

"The 10th congressional district represents a large rural area of Pennsylvania.

All-American Hosts State Fall Championship Show

MICHELLE RANCK
Lancaster Farming
Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — If numbers are an indicator, the All-American Dairy Show is well on its way to becoming the show to exhibit top animals. Held at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Building, this year's All-American Dairy Show boasts an increase in entries in every breed, achieving almost 1,700 open show entries.

Ayrshire and Guernsey entries increased by more than 80 animals each, and Milking Shorthorns moved by up almost 70 animals, with Jerseys growing by more than 50 animals.

According to Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes, who visited the event, besides a 26 percent increase in number of animals entered in the show, the All-American show has seen an increase of 40 percent in exhibitors participating, a 50 percent increase in the number of states represented, and an 80 percent increase in the dollar amount of premiums awarded in the show.

Obie Snider, president of the show and only remaining representative of the original board of directors, has watched the show grow from its conception.

"I can't believe it's been 37 years," said Snider, who is encouraged by the growing enthusiasm and participation of show exhibitors. "I see a lot of enthusiasm among the exhibitors," said Snider. According to Snider the facilities plus the amount of people, including exhibitors and buyers, are attractive to All-American participants.

The sheer amount of people in attendance may mean even more to exhibitors than the premiums, said Snider, who noted that an increase in traffic through the barns translates into more people to look at exhibitors' cattle and gives increased opportunity to market their cattle.

Holstein Championship Show

Snider mentioned speaking to an exhibitor who showed cattle at another venue but returned to the All-American show and is enthusiastic about showing again next year. "I think that kind of excitement will permeate to others," said Snider.

Organization may be another reason the show is rising in popularity.

"This is as well-run show as you'll find anywhere," said Bob Rugaber, Butler, a retired county agent who has worked at the show all 37 years. "The integrity has always been tops. We never let anything slide."

Hank Van Exel of Lodi, California, judged the Pennsylvania Fall Holstein Championship Show in the large arena. Exel farms 1,900 acres and milks 1500 cows plus 200 Jerseys on a separate farm. His operation, Exels Holsteins and Jerseys, has a rolling herd average of 28,000.

Exel shows his animals extensively and has been named premier exhibitor the last six out of seven years at California State Black and White Show. He has also judged all over the Western States plus Canada and Maryland. The All-American Show marks his first time judging a Pennsylvania event. Exel acquired his judging experience judging for California Polytechnic University.

Amanda Cessna of Everett, with Windy-Knoll-View Pal-Et won the 2000 Keystone Futurity. In 1997, 111 animals were entered at $3 a head, a number which dwindled to 81 animals in 1998, 40 animals in 1999, and 13 animals in the ring for the recent futurity class, which had a premium of $887. To date, 114 animals are registered for the 2001 Keystone Futurity.

Nearly 300 head of Holsteins competed in the show. Almost 500 Holsteins will compete in the various shows during the All-American event. A complete list of Holstein show results follows:

Boyd Sweeps Sale, Non-Sale Supreme Championships At Ephrata

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff
EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.)

— Sarah Boyd continued her winning streak by clinching supreme championship titles for sale and non-sale market lambs, meat goats, and market hogs at Ephrata Fair Wednesday.

Out of 110 sheep, show judge John Connelly selected Boyd's champions for their muscle, framework, and overall balance.

Of Boyd's champions in both the selling and nonselling market lamb competitions, Connelly said, "These are the kind I like to raise and the kind my son likes to show."

Boyd, who swept the same titles last year at Ephrata, said that she has no secrets she's willing to share.

This year's champion market lambs are twin brothers born from last year's champion ewe. The champion non-selling lamb was purchased from B&B in Ohio.

"It's ironic," Boyd said. "All year, my homebreds and the B&B lamb keep splitting the championships. Both sets have each won two shows this year."

Boyd said she walks the lambs about one to one-and-a-half miles daily around the family's Ephrata farm.

The reserve champion non-selling lamb was a homebred Suffolk cross shown by Ryan Donough, 16, Manheim. Named Autumn, the same lamb was also selected reserve champion at the Denver Fair.

Also in a repeat of last year's competition, Boyd's best friend Jen Zimmerman took the supreme championship in breeding sheep. Zimmerman, who with her brother Jimmy raises about 65 head on their Denver farm, showed a Southdown that took supreme ewe and supreme overall breeding sheep. Her brother Jimmy, 16, showed the supreme champion ram, a Cheviot named Clyde. The reserve champion ram was owned by Derrick Bollinger, Manheim.

In the bid for the supreme overall breeds, the rams needed to bow to Zimmerman's Southdown with the reserve champion ewe, a Suffolk lamb shown by Andrew Gerhart, named the supreme reserve champion breeding sheep.

The Southdown and the Suffolk are two really outstanding examples of breeding sheep,

Connelly said in pointing out the lambs' front extensions which blended well with feet and legs, styles, and types.

Jen, 18, and the FFA eastern region vice president hurried home from Massachusetts FFA meeting to show.

She said the supreme breeding champion named Macy is fast becoming her favorite pet. Between Jen and Jimmy, the Zimmerman family has taken the supreme breeding sheep titles for the past six years at Ephrata.

Gerhart, 13, said that he purchased his Suffolk ewe lamb from Pine Haven.

"She's very uncooperative, but at least she won," Gerhart said.

Gerhart, son of Cathy and Glen, raises about 25-30 head on the family's Reinholds' farm.

Showmanship grand champion was earned by Jen Zimmerman with the reserve by Joellyn Donough, Manheim. Thirteen-year-old Joellyn and her brothers have about 50 head of sheep on their Manheim farm.

A partial list of placings follows:

Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association Serves 600,000 Residents

The Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association (PREA), based in Harrisburg, Pa., is the service organization for the non-profit consumer-owned rural electric cooperatives in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Currently, the 13 co-ops in Pennsylvania and one in New Jersey provide electric service to more than 600,000 rural residents, businesses and industries. Pennsylvania's co-ops own and maintain about 12.5 percent of the electric distribution lines in the state, covering nearly one-third of the Commonwealth's land area in 41 counties. These lines represent one of the largest non-governmental investments in rural infrastructure in the state and are an essential component of business and industry.

PREA's 14-member board of directors — one director elected from each of its member cooperatives — conducts the association's business to best serve the consumers members of the co-ops.

PREA works jointly with the Allegheny Electric Cooperative Inc., a generation and transmission cooperative that provides wholesale power to the 14 co-ops.

HISTORY

As late as the 1930s, only six out of every 100 rural Pennsylvanians knew the miracle of electric light bulb in their homes. The reason — establishing power companies in Pennsylvania and New Jersey had decided that running electric lines into rural areas would not make them a profit.

As a rule, power companies charged farmers $2,000 to $3,000 per mile to build lines to their homes and then charged electric rates higher than those in the cities. Since the average gross income of a farm family of the period was just $1,800 per year, most couldn't afford electric service.

In many areas, power was not available at any cost for a time it seemed profit needs — greed — of stockholder-controlled private power companies would condemn most of Pennsylvania's and New Jersey's rural population to live forever with kerosene lamps and hand pumps.

But rural leader and a handful of politicians were not ready to accept the status quo. They began working to demonstrate that electric power could be provided to rural areas at a reasonable cost and began developing a business structure to make that delivery possible.

In 1931, New York Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Power Authority of the State of New York (PASNY) to develop water power on the St. Lawrence River. PASNY produced the first study on the actual costs of electric distribution and helped demonstrate the practicality of providing electricity to rural areas.

In 1935, armed with studies showing both the economic feasibility and the benefits of providing electricity to rural areas, then-President Roosevelt signed an executive order forming the Rural Electrification Administration (REA).

The REA program was initially intended as an inducement to the private power companies to begin serving rural areas. But even with the incentives provided by 2 percent REA loans, the private power suppliers showed little interest in building the necessary lines. By the end of 1935, it was clear that the private power companies weren't serious about acting on the government's offer to electrify the countryside. Most of the loan applications and inquiries REA received came from farm co-ops. REA now realized that farmers and their rural neighbors were willing to take electrification into their own hands on a cooperative basis.

Farmers had long experience with cooperatives. In fact, the co-op was the business structural rural people adopted when confronted with a task too large for any family to handle itself.

It was natural then that rural leaders chose to form another kind of co-op to provide themselves and their neighbors with electricity. Since extending central station electric service required very specialized engineering skills, many in Congress were convinced rural electrification would never be accomplished without REA receiving regular appropriations and full status. So in 1936, one year and 20 days after REA had been created, Congress passed legislation making REA a permanent government agency. In 1939, REA became part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

On October 20, 1994, a sweeping reorganization of the Ag Department took place. As a result, after 59 years of existence, REA was officially disbanded. Most REA functions were transferred to a new Rural Utilities Service (RUS).

But the mission of rural electrification continues. Today, about 1,000 electric cooperatives across the United States provide power to more than 25 million consumer members. Each co-op is a locally owned, taxpaying business incorporated under the laws of its individual state.

Rural electric cooperatives have been delivering low-cost electric service to Pennsylvania and New Jersey rural residents since 1936, when the Steamburg Electric Cooperative Association (later consolidated into Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative) was established in Erie and Crawford counties.

The 14 rural electric cooperatives that today comprise PREA were organized between 1936 and 1941. By the time the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, all of them had gone through the pangs of becoming organized, of getting their first loans, of making arrangements for power supply at least on a short-term basis and had begun construction of lines to reach their unserved neighbors.

With the outbreak of WWII, the co-ops realized they need a statewide organization to speak for them as one voice on legislative issues. The co-ops created PREA in February 1942.

Agriculture At The Core

Fair? "As long as there is a Bloomsburg Fair in existence, it will be an agriculture fair," Trump asserted.

The Bloomsburg Fair is especially geared to youthful exhibitors. The FFA and 4-H Clubs are featured along with youth shows in all exhibit disciplines. The Arts and Crafts, Educational, Horticultural, and Industrial exhibit buildings are packed with entries. Poultry and rabbits take their place with 4-H horse shows and riding demonstrations. Swine show achievement judging and dairy goat judging go with working border collies and the horse and pony drills.

Of course dairy cattle of all the major breeds get into the act along with beef and sheep. And a 4-H and FFA Livestock Sale cap the community's dedication to the area youth who participated in this year's Bloomsburg Fair. The Bloomsburg Fair ran from Sept. 23 to 30 this year and some of the results and reports of events will be available from the fair in later issues of Lancaster Farming.

most popular events is the "Challenge of the Breeds," which will attract participants from 10 breeds competing for a $1,000 first-place award.

In the sheep department, the exposition will feature three regional shows in the junior division: the Eastern Regional Dorset Junior Show, the Mid-Eastern Regional Tunis Youth Show, and the Regional Montadale Junior Show. In addition to these events, seven breeds will conduct ewe sales during the exposition.

Starting on Thursday, at 4 p.m., will be the Stockmen's Trade Show. Everything from T-shirts and jewelry to saddles and horse trailers will be available to purchase from the vendor booths at the show.

Hundreds of collegiate, FFA, and 4-H students from several states always enter the junior livestock judging and stockman contests at KILE. These keen educational competitions are excellent tests of knowledge and skill, providing students with valuable experience for their futures in agriculture.

More than 4,100 entries are expected for the 2000 show, which offers a record $200,000 in premiums.

A tantalizing assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups will be available and the Barnyard Baby Exhibit, where young and old alike may touch and pet the animals, is always a favorite spot at the show.

	CATTLE	CALVES
THIS WEEK	2289	1657
LAST WEEK	2525	1711
LAST YEAR	3545	1659

CATTLE. Compared to last week's closing prices, slaughter steers and heifers sold firm. The market never strayed very far from steady, but more of the trading occurred at the top of the price range than last week. The quality of this week's offering was surprisingly high, considering many feeders are cleaning out their barns to start fresh. Prices for Virginia feeder cattle have eased up over the last several weeks and 800 lb black feeder steers can now be purchased for under 80.00 cwt. However, the local demand for replacement feeders will soon skyrocket as farmers finish filling their silos and become anxious to feed this year's abundant crop. Western fat cattle prices were steady to .50 higher this week, trading from 65.00-65.50 live and mostly 103.00 dressed. Local Holstein steers closed steady to .50 lower. Slaughter cow trading was active and prices ended 1.00-2.00 higher, while slaughter bulls finished mostly 1.00 lower. Farewell, it has been my pleasure to report this market. Supply included 40 percent slaughter steers, 7 percent slaughter heifers, 40 percent cows, 6 percent bulls with the balance feeders.

CALVES: Compared to last week, lightweight vealers closed steady to 5.00 lower. Slaughter calves ended mostly steady, after trading sharply higher earlier in the week. Holstein bull calves headed for special-fed veal barns sold progressively higher through the week, closing steady to 5.00 higher. Holstein heifer trading was uneven with improved demand for weights under 80 lbs, but buyers were more selective as to quality on the average weight heifer calves. Prices closed unevenly steady to as much as 50.00 higher.

VEALERS: Standard and Good 75-135 lbs 30.00-60.00. Utility 60-95 lbs 10.00-32.00, mostly 20.00-30.00.

In addition to Melinda Wolfe, center, finalists selected from 33 contestants include from left, Samantha Barrett, Bradford County; Melissa Burdick, Potter County; Heidi Lynn Miller, Dauphin County; Emily Cloninger, Centre County; Lucinda Bray, Berks County; and Desara Lyn Oshop, Lawrence County.

Melinda Sue Wolfe, representing Northumberland, Snyder, Union, and Montour counties, not only clinched the state dairy princess title but also Miss Congeniality, top speech award, and honorable mention in scrapbook competition.

SUN Area Dairy Princess Rises To Cream Of The Crop

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Enthusiasm vibrated from the 35 county dairy princesses vying for the state crown at the 44th annual Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation last Saturday at the Sheraton Inn, Harrisburg.

Although only one — Melinda Sue Wolfe — could walk away with the state title, the 35 contestants will carry their enthusiasm in promoting dairy products in their home counties.

Assisting Melinda in state promotion are First Alternate Heidi Linn Miller, Dauphin County, and Second Alternate Emily Kerr Cloninger, Centre County.

Melinda, the 19-year-old daughter of Dean and Rinda Wolfe, Milton, is from a 485-head dairy farm in Northumberland County. As SUN Area dairy princess, she represents not only her own county but also Snyder, Union, and Montour counties.

Her family's 300-acre Wolfe's Powerline Dairy has been in the family for three generations.

Melinda's heartwarming speech, "My American Hero" paid tribute to her father. She took the audience behind the scenes of "her hero" who keeps things running smoothly despite not ever having a day that something doesn't go wrong on the farm.

"Why run ragged for so little return?" she asks. "Perhaps because farming is in his blood. Or that he sees blood, sweat, and blisters as battle wounds of living his lifelong dream.

Each evening, she said, her dad ignores his tired body to get one more thing done.

two award-winning skit presentations are selected during preliminary pageant festivities.

Desaria's speech centered on "the boots I'm wearing." A photograph that hangs on the wall of her parents' home in New Galilee shows her as a toddler wearing a pair of oversized work boots. She talked about what those boots represent and how the boots are a better fit today.

The boots represent the things she learned growing up on a farm.

"Men like my dad make me proud to say, 'I'm a farmer's daughter.'"

"My greatest admiration is for my dad and others like him," she said.

For this reason, she declared the day Farmer Appreciation Day.

"Men like my dad make me proud to say, 'I'm a farmer's daughter,'" Melinda said.

In addition to Melinda's speech, that given by Lawrence County Dairy Princess Desaria Oshop was also cited as award-winning. The two speeches and

The things she learned working side by side with her mother in the milk parlor, how cow comfort, vaccination, and strong cows are needed. The necessity of maintaining sanitation without cutting corners to ensure milk quality, and the value of teamwork that results in producing millions of pounds of dairy products for families and schools.

"I still wear those boots, only they are a better fit today,"

Desaria said. "I thank God that I can grow up on a dairy farm to produce a product that makes an amazing difference in so many lives."

Taking the two top awards in a skit presentation were Bradford County Dairy Princess Samantha Barrett and Berks County Dairy Princess Lucinda Bray.

Samantha's skit portrayed the Adventures of Milky Mouse and his obsession with dairy products. Filled with cute rhymes, lots of energy, and surprises, Samantha's skit revealed how Milky Mouse outwitted the gigantic mouse trap to attain his favorite cheese. His quick wits, strong bones, and intelligence were attributed to his consumption of dairy products.

In her presentation, Lucinda dressed as state trooper Cindy Bray of the dairy patrol inspecting typical lunches of school students.

"Good health is no accident. Eat healthy. Stay healthy," she said as she signed off.

After a rigorous two days of judging, seven finalists were selected to contend for the state crown.

In front of the audience, finalists needed to answer the impromptu question: What is the most important lesson you have learned that will help guide you in the future?

Lori Connelly bids farewell before crowning her successor.

Melinda, at the time a finalist, answered that she believes the most important lesson she has learned is how much she doesn't know, how much she has to learn, and how much she needs to live life to the fullest every day.

Lucinda Bray, Berks County dairy princess, answered that the most important thing she has earned is a good work ethic.

She listed time management and being responsible as traits that will help her in the future.

Centre County Dairy Princess Emily Cloninger said that being herself is the most important thing she has learned. "That's who you are and what you do best. Be yourself and everyone will accept you for that," she said.

Potter County Dairy Princess Melissa Burdick said it's important to never second guess yourself. Always go with what you think first and that will lead you right, she said.

Desarai Lyn Oshop, Lawrence County dairy princess, said that someone told her that everybody's different. Each may have one little thing about them that you don't like but remember you have something also they may not like. "Thinking of that helps me accept everyone and love everyone equally," she said.

Bradford County Dairy Princess Samantha Barrett said the most important thing she has learned is to honor your family. Your family is so important. "I have about 20 family members in the audience and they have always supported me 110 percent," she said.

Dauphin County Heidi Miller said that living on a farm is learning to be responsible.

"Many things need to be done and little time is available to do it. But it's important that everyone takes responsibility to do their part," she said.

Melinda and the state alternates will travel throughout the state representing the dairy industry in the next year. Melinda is a sophomore at Bloomsburg University, where she is majoring in elementary education.

Heidi is the 17-year-old daughter of J. Michael and Linda Miller, who raise Hostein

A senior at Central Dauphin High School, Heidi plans to attend college to study music educational performance.

Emily is the 18-year-old daughter of veterinarian Robert Cloninger and his wife Ellen. The family raise 28 Holsteins on their 10-acre Reeber Farm. Emily is majoring in animal science business management at Penn State. She is also a member of the Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Executive Committee, National and Pennsylvania Dairy Bowl, Centre Hall 4-H Ag Club, and Mount Nittany 4-H Dairy Club.

dedication and professionalism you put forth every day to create such an exceptional way of life," Lori said.

Lauren Debra Daubert, daughter of Dean and Brenda Daubert of Clinton County, received the Tina Shultz Memorial Award, which is given to the county dairy princess judged to have done the most outstanding job of representing the dairy industry within her county. The decision is based on the number and types of appearances the princess as made during 12 months of her reign.

Lauren's promotional efforts totaled 422 activities reaching approximately 28,200 consumers with the milk message.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Program is designed to extend and augment, at the local level, the advertising and promotion efforts of various dairy promotion agencies in the state.

"By working together, we can have a healthier, happier public and a stronger, more prosperous dairy industry," Harding said.

"For all the dairy princesses, the pageant is a sparkling celebration of the important job they are doing. Everyone is a success. Just to be here representing her county makes her a winner."

Those who return to their home counties will be joined by 30 alternates and 250 junior representatives to continue the job of local dairy promotion.

In her walk down the runway, Melinda Sue Wolfe thanks friends, family, the dairy industry, and God for giving her the opportunity to reign as state princess.

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

I planted potatoes last week. "You did what?" puzzled our daughter after hearing that, probably figuring Mom had really lost her marbles this time.

"I'm defying the seasons," I explained. Defiantly.

This perhaps-futile venture developed after visiting the ground cellar one recent morning to retrieve a couple of baking potatoes for tossing into the oven with a meatloaf. Along with the fresh bag of russets just purchased, I found another containing about a dozen potatoes bought earlier, wrinkling as they sapped their own moisture, pushing out clusters of pale white sprouts. Clustered around each wrinkling potato were tiny "infants," some of them already the size of the marbles, which I no doubt appeared to be losing.

Logical response would have been to pitch the old spuds into the hay field across the road where birds, bugs, and slugs quickly consume anything of nutritive value, while the rest decomposes into organic matter. Sort of an oversized compost pile which never needs turning.

Instead, I grabbed the bag of has-beens and headed for the garden.

Late summer's damp, dreary, humidity wreaked havoc on all our vining crops, leaving little behind but tangled messes of dead stems and assorted half-matured, half-rotting melons, and squashes. Yanking off a small section of black plastic mulch where the once-thriving butternut squash had gone kaput revealed bare, damp, weedless soil, easily loosened by rooting around a bit with my favorite garden trowel.

Years ago, I read in a gardening magazine that potatoes could be grown by simply laying seed sections onto loose soil, then covering with a deep mulch of straw. When the spuds grow to desired size, just remove the straw and pick up the potatoes.

Literally.

Well, it sounds worth a try. Straw being a standard commodity here, it took only a few-steps side trip to the barn to grab a half-bale to scatter over the experiment. With potatoes being cool-weather lovers, and straw a great insulator against freezing, perhaps this six or eight minutes of time and a dozen rotting potatoes might yield us some tender, new tater-tidbits before the first snow.

Just in time to cook with a Thanksgiving turkey.

Deep down, I know the potato venture was just a tactic to delay the dreaded, inevitable day when there is absolutely no usable fresh produce left in the garden. For months, fresh garden goodies have been part of our everyday meals. For us die-hard gardeners, it's always painful to let that go.

Other ventures to stave-off gardening withdrawal are scattered here and there, like the single hill of cucumbers, with several fledging pickles being coddled and coaxed on the bank at the dairy barn. Floating row cover tucked around it — day and night — is a cheap, passive way to capture some extra warmth and hopefully, encourage those pickle-lets to grow a few more inches.

A second section of the white, almost weightless fiber-fabric hangs over a pair of late tomato plants thriving in a compost pile of manure and straw outside the calf nursery. Its green tomatoes of varying sizes offer promise of ripening, with a little sunshine, a little luck, and a little less companionship from the kittens using it as a recreation center.

Bowing to the inevitable, I followed up the potato planting with an afternoon spent installing a new inner layer of insulating plastic on the greenhouse. If time allows, I'll pot and move in some selected wax begonias and dianthus, hose off all the house plants which summered outside to blast away any bugs, and take as many cuttings of geraniums as possible.

More likely, Jack Frost will suddenly come sneaking over the horizon some early evening, sending me out with a flashlight to drag in what should have been moved in under plastic a few days sooner.

While the crew here hastens to harvest tons of cattle feed for the winter — so the "girls" can dine as they've become accustomed to — we two-legged types are again reminded how fortunate we all are that we no longer have to supply our families their winter foodstuffs that same way.

And, if we can extend our gardening season and its fresh goodies a few days longer, it's a free bonus. If not, nearby produce markets and grocery centers are but a few moments away.

Every year as frost threatens, I'm reminded not to take that luxury for granted.

Promotion Spurs Chocolate Milk Sales By 24 Percent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Dairy farmers are getting results from promotion. With sales figures now in, farmers can be proud of the promotion, "Chocolate: The Wilder Side of Milk."

Chocolate milk sales increased by nearly 24 percent during this, the dairy industry's first-ever national chocolate milk promotion.

The promotion was implemented locally by the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program and the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Mid East, and sponsored nationally by dairy farmers and processors through Dairy Management, Inc." and the Milk Processor Education Program.

The five week promotion ran from Feb. 27 through March 31 and resulted in an additional 1.1 million gallons of chocolate milk sold. This increase comes on the heels of a 12 percent increase in chocolate milk gallon sales in 1999, compared to the previous year.

Chicken can be prepared in an almost endless variety of ways. Grill, roast, bake, oven fry, broil, microwave, saute, stir-fry, poach, or simmer and chicken provides the same complete protein as red meat.

The spectacular growth in chicken consumption in the past 40 years can be attributed to convenience, nutrition, and price value.

A three-ounce serving of chicken breast contains less than 120 calories and can be prepared in minutes. Grill or bake seasoned chicken breast and top with your favorite sauce.

Many wonderful combinations of poultry with vegetables, fruits, pasta, and other food exist. Some of the most popular are those combining poultry, cream, cheese, and other milk products.

Here is one from 1999-2000 Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Lori Lynn Connelly. She crowned the new state princess when 33 county dairy princesses competed for the state crown last Saturday evening.

A recipe booklet containing a recipe from each of the contestants was given to each guest. Even if you did not attend the pageant, you can still attain a copy of the recipe booklet by contacting your local dairy princess or by sending a self-addressed stamped business-size envelope to Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc., 214 S. St., Box 640, Clarion, PA 16214.

CRANBERRY CHICKEN

- ¼ cup vegetable oil
- 3 cloves garlic, finely chopped
- 6 chicken breast halves
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2 medium-size green bell peppers, sliced in strips
- 3 medium-size onions, sliced
- 10 large mushrooms, sliced
- ½ cup cider vinegar
- 16-ounce can whole cranberry sauce
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon corn starch
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce

Delmarva Celebrates National ChickenMonth

GEORGETOWN, Del. — September is National Chicken Month — the perfect time to enjoy a late summer chicken cookout or a family chicken dinner featuring any favorite chicken dish.

Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. (DPI) President Bill Massey notes that National Chicken Month is also a time to remind consumers that the Delmarva Peninsula is a leader in supplying wholesome, nutritious, affordable chicken to consumers throughout the United States and around the world. Additionally, the local chicken industry has taken a leadership position in protecting the environment and working towards improvements in water quality.

The Delmarva Peninsula is the sixth largest chicken producing area in the nation. Last year, 2,531 local farm families produced 606 million chickens — that's almost 12 million birds a week or 1.7 million birds per day. Delmarva-grown chickens are processed and prepared for market in 12 processing plants owned by four of the nation's top poultry companies. Thousands of area residents are employed in these plants and in the peninsula's 15 hatcheries, 10 feedmills, or a wide variety of other industry related jobs. In fact, a recent economic study reported that each job in the poultry processing industry creates 7.2 jobs elsewhere.

The Delmarva Peninsula is recognized as the birthplace of the commercial chicken industry. For more than 75 years, the poultry industry has been an important part of the history of the Delmarva Peninsula and it is positioned to remain a viable part of the economy for years to come.

For additional information on the chicken industry and a collection of delicious chicken recipes, visit the DPI website at www.dpicken.com.

ANSWER — Thanks to Mrs. Edward Martin, Alta Vista, Iowa, for sending several recipes using whole grains, which had been requested by a reader. She writes that you can substitute freshly ground whole wheat flour in many cake and cookie recipes; however, you need to experiment because the baked goods are a bit more crumbly. Note: she specifies freshly ground whole wheat. You can not purchase store-bought and expect the same results. For best results, beat the batter extensively to activate the gluten in the flour.

Farmhouse Oatmeal Cookies

3 cups whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1¼ cups packed brown sugar
¼ cup molasses
1 cup raisins
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ cup butter
2 eggs
1½ cups oatmeal
1 cup chopped walnuts

Mix together butter, sugar, and molasses, add the eggs and beat well. Add flour, baking powder, cinnamon, baking soda, and oatmeal. Add walnuts and raisins at the end. Bake at 325 degrees until done.

Whole Wheat Bread

3½ cups water
2 tablespoons yeast
½ cup vegetable oil
½ cup honey
2 tablespoons lecithin
2 tablespoons gluten
1 egg
1 tablespoon salt

10-12 cups freshly ground whole wheat flour
Use very warm but not hot water. Add oil, honey, salt, and yeast. Allow to stand until yeast is dissolved, then add egg, lecithin, gluten, and 5 cups flour. Mix well, let rise 30 minutes in a warm place. Mix in the remaining flour, one cup at a time, mixing well. Put in a warm place to rise, kneading every 15 minutes for one hour. The fourth time, shape into loaves and put in pans. Let rise again. Bake at 325 degrees approximately 30 minutes. Makes three large or four small loaves.

Big Moist Chocolate Cake

2½ cups sugar
4 eggs
1 cup vegetable oil
Mix together and add:
3 cups freshly ground whole wheat flour
1 cup cocoa
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2¼ cups hot water
Bake at 350 degrees for 45-50 minutes.

Parents Can Help

Stop Violence Before It Starts

Violence is the act of purposefully hurting someone. It's a major issue facing today's youth and young adults.

Youth violence escalated sharply during the 1990's, resulting in harsh consequences for the youth involved, their families, and their communities.

There is no single explanation for the overall rise in youth violence. Sometimes violence results from a conflict over something small, such as a mistaken gesture or look, or talking to a member of a rival group.

For others, violence is a way to release feelings of anger or frustration. Violence may be used to manipulate or control others; or it may be a method of retaliation against those who have caused hurt.

Youth who demonstrate acts of violence may require the help of a trained professional.

Parents, however, can create an environment for young children that will decrease the likelihood that youth will engage in acts of violence. Don't underestimate the power of parents. The little "lessons of life" taught by parents everyday can be major steps toward stopping the tendency toward violence in youth and young adults. The following are some suggestions from the National Association of Social Workers (100 Ways You Can Stop Violence):

- Make a child smile today.
- Be an exception of somebody's stereotype of you.
- Be slow to anger, slow to accuse, quick to tolerate.
- Use courtesy — its disarming.
- Say hello to your neighbor.
- Talk to your children.

- Write a letter protesting a violent television program.

- Perform random acts of kindness.

- Teach your children to recognize and appreciate differences among people.

- Monitor your children's TV programs, movies, and video and computer games.

- Teach your children to respect themselves and others.

- Learn about your own cultural heritage from your parents or grandparents. Teach it to your children.

- Learn to speak Spanish or Greek or Swahili or any language new to you.

- Use humor.

- Treat your children as you wish you had been treated.

- Avoid a conflict. Usually it's not worth it to argue.

- Be responsible for your own actions.

- Be a good example of tolerance.

- Learn to walk in another's shoes.

- Curb disparaging remarks.

- Watch your own anger — talk it out, write it out, sing it out, but don't act it out.

- Contact a local university. Ask a foreign student to spend Thanksgiving with your family.

- Hug your kids.

- Dress in ethnic clothing from your own background or someone else's for a day.

- Practice patience.

- Take a deep breath and count to ten.

- Take time to do one favor for someone every day.

- Fix the problem, not the blame.

- Don't get discouraged. "Hope is like a road in the country. There never was a road, but when many people walk the same path, a road comes into existence."

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — As the days get shorter, Jim Van Horn, family life specialist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, suggests some inexpensive, educational fun for kids.

Ages 2-3

- Adopt a grandparent. Children with faraway grandparents might enjoy "adopting" an older person (or persons) in the neighborhood who don't have grandkids nearby. They can make them cards and gifts, visit them and remember them at holidays.

- Build a railroad train. Read Watt Piper's "The Little Engine That Could" or Lois Lenski's "The Little Train." Line up cardboard boxes and let your children decorate them to look like the engine, caboose, etc. Give them bells, horns, pieces of paper for tickets and a hole punch for the conductor. If there are trains nearby, take your child where you can safely watch them.

- Go for a walk and use your nose. A "discovery smell walk" can be creative and educational. Take your child to fragrant places like gas stations, grocery stores and plant nurseries.

- Make colored milk. Flavor milk with a little vanilla and honey and let your child pick the food coloring. Infants under age two should not use honey because it may contain botulism toxins.

- Visit the farmer's market. Roadside stands and farmer's markets can be fun places to visit and talk about the changes in seasons. Choose a pumpkin or some crunchy apples to take home.

- Stringing objects (kids over 2-years-old). Lay out objects in pie pans, like beads, various pastas and short pieces of plastic straws. Provide plastic laces or yarn and large dull needles.

- Fall yard and garden clean-up. Kids can help pull dried-up vegetables and flowers and save flower seeds for next year's garden. Marigold seeds are easy to remove. Kids also can help turn the soil with a shovel, rake leaves and harvest fall vegetables.

Ages 4-6

- Dress-up box. Fill a large box with old clothes, shoes, hats, etc. Old wedding dresses, prom dresses and men's suits are fun. See who can dress up in the funniest costume.

- Pretend visit. Invite your children to knock on the door of your home for a pretend visit. Offer juice and a snack. Ask about work and the kids. Afterwards, they can pretend to leave.

- Make apple pudding. Place 1 cup cooked rice in a bowl. Let your child stir in 1 cup apple sauce, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup low-fat vanilla yogurt, then spoon the pudding into dishes.

- Spider house. Punch small holes in the lid of a large glass jar. Fill with two-inches of sand or dirt. Stand a twig (for the web) in the sand so it nearly reaches the top or leans against the side. Add a cotton ball and moisten it every fourth day. Add a spider (check a spider book to be sure what you have). Spiders shouldn't be kept more than a couple of weeks since it's hard to feed them.

- Paper plate masks. Punch a hole in each side of a paper plate and tie yarn or string to them. Mark the nose and eye holes and cut them out. Cut out the bottom of a paper cup and tape it over the nose. Decorate the face with construction paper ears, crayons, hair, fur, etc.

- Tissue ghost puppets. Tuck four cotton balls in the center of an extra large facial tissue. Cinch a rubber band around the cotton to form a head. Draw a face with a marker, then place an index finger through the rubber band and slightly into the head with the tissue covering your hand.

- Sharing with others. Your family can show that they care by sharing outgrown clothing and food. Sort and donate clothes to groups like the Salvation Army and churches. Donate food to food banks. Call the Humane Society or S.P.C.A. to see if they'd like pet food or newspapers.

- Sketch a community map. If available, compare old maps to up-to-date maps of your town. Sketch and title a map that shows how to get from your house to the school, library, etc. Draw a legend in the corner that defines your marks (e.g. traffic lights).

- Pick your own apples. Check the newspaper or phone directory for a pick-your-own orchard and find out when they are open. Explore the orchard, picking equipment, cider press, apple sorter, etc. Enjoy the smells and compare the various kinds of apples.

- Clay leaf prints. Flatten a lump of clay on foil with a rolling pin. Place a leaf on the clay and roll over it. Remove the leaf and let the clay dry. Paint it with tempera if desired.

- Glycerin leaves. On several layers of newspaper, hammer the end of a small branch of leaves until slightly crushed. In a jar, mix one part glycerin (from drug store) with two parts water. Place the pounded end of the branch as you would a bouquet into the glycerin mixture for two weeks to preserve the leaves.

- Sketching and photographing animals. Pets and backyard visitors make ready models that assume countless poses. Patiently wait for your subject to assume the desired pose. Discover, for example, where and when rabbits dine, then wait for them. Make an album of your pictures to share.

- Seed mosaics. Set up plastic dishes of various seeds and beans. Draw a design on cardboard, then fill sections with glue. Sprinkle or place seeds on the glued areas.

- Picture fun. Clip pictures from magazines, write up funny captions and sent them to friends.

Misty II Of Chincoteague Dies

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Misty II of Chincoteague, the only remaining grand foal of the legendary Misty of Chincoteague, and a celebrity in her own right, died Thursday, Aug. 24 due to complications from cancer.

The 26-year-old pony had been under treatment by two veterinarians for the disease. She was spending the summer at the Chincoteague Pony Centre on Chincoteague Island, VA.

Owned by the Keith Allen family of Lancaster County, the mare had spent the last 13 years with that family. Bought by the Allens when she was 13, and gentled to ride at age 14, she went on to become a representative of the Chincoteague Pony breed at horse shows, equestrian events, schools, and special functions.

During her lifetime, she was invited and appeared at many events and places, including, the Washington D.C. International Horse Show, Pennsylvania National Rodeo, Pennsylvania National Horse Show, Breyerfest, Kentucky Horse Park, Virginia State Fair, Equitana USA, the Wayne, Illinois Celebration of Marguerite Henry, Hartford County Maryland Fair, Chincoteague VA Seafood Festival, and of course, Chincoteague Pony Penning.

She traveled to about 200 schools during her stay with the Allens, where she made the story of Misty of Chincoteague by Marguerite Henry come alive. More than 20,000 students were given the opportunity to come and pet her while she would patiently stand. She would also shake hands with selected students and stand on her stool just as her famous grandmother did.

She was a member of the Chincoteague Pony Drill Team until this year, a group of 10 Chincoteague ponies that performed intricate drills set to music. She loved to perform and always was ready to go in the show ring and do her best for her rider.

In the show ring, the pony was known for her winning ways. She brought home many trophies and blue ribbons for the Allen children, and was often used by children who did not own a pony of their own, who rode her in competition. Countless children in 4-H and open competitions rode her for their own personal moment of being a part of the story of Misty and brought home a horse show ribbon.

The pony was well known by the late author Marguerite Henry, who owned her famous grandmother, the original Misty of Chincoteague, until her death. Ms. Henry kept a framed picture of Misty II in her home where she could see it while she wrote. One of her favorite stories to tell visitors was the story of the success and joy of Misty II carrying on the tradition of Misty to the world.

The daughter of the pony Stormy, made famous in her own Marguerite Henry book, Misty II has four foals of her own at the Allen Farm. Black Mist, Misty's Misty II was a Chincoteague pony made famous by Marguerite Henry's popular books on the real-life adventures of the island ponies. Although the Allens have 15 Chincoteague ponies on their farm, Kendy said, Misty II was the family favorite.

May Day Twister, Misty's Heat-Wave, and Misty II's Henry, have all already been part of the tradition of telling the story of Chincoteague Island by making personal appearances at public events and they will continue to do so.

Misty II received fan mail from all over the world — even getting boxes of oat cakes sent to her from school children. The Allens kept a guest book for visitors at their Pennsylvania farm for people who would come to see her, and the book is filled with names from all over the country and around the world.

She was buried at the Chincoteague Pony Centre in Chincoteague and will have a stone marking her burial place there.

"We spent 13 wonderful years with a pony that was one of the best in the world." Kendy Allen commented. "We wanted her to return to the island of her ancestors, and are thrilled that this was possible. This way there will be a permanent remembrance of a pony that truly was one in a million."

The mare was diagnosed with cancer in June of this year, and had two surgeries over the summer. Up to the end, she kept her friendly attitude and met her public, daintily accepting treats from her youngest admirers, and greeting her public in her stall.

"She was a wonderful representative of Misty and of the Chincoteague breed," Allen noted. "She showed all the wonderful qualities that make the breed special, she was very intelligent, loved kids, and would do anything you asked her. She has been such a part of our lives, it is really hard to believe that she is gone."

Her grandmother, Misty of Chincoteague, also died at age 26. Of all the Misty descendants, Misty II has been the only one to show the same markings, including the famous map of the United States on her side.

"The only way we could have a Misty III would be for one of Misty II's descendants to have that map on her side," Allen noted. "We're looking forward to some foals next year. I guess we'll just have to wait and see if there ever is a Misty III."

Those interested in remembering Misty II may send contributions in her name to the Chincoteague Pony Drill Team, in care of Mrs. Fay Varner, 339 Oak Tree Road, Manheim, PA 17545.

Smart Stuff

WITH TWIG WALKINGSTICK

Why are there cobwebs in the trees?

Those cobwebs in the trees aren't made by spiders at all. In fact, they're not really cobwebs. They are actually the homes of thousands of bagworms. Bagworms are caterpillars that weave houses resembling cone-shaped silk bags. The worms try to hide their homes by camouflaging them with bits of leaves, bark and other debris.

Bagworms can be found all over the country, from the New England states to Nebraska and south through Texas. They attack trees like pine, spruce, apple, maple, elm, oak, and many others. Bagworms are dangerous pests. They cause a great deal of destruction to our trees each year.

Bagworm females cannot fly. Instead, they stay in the host tree producing eggs. These eggs eventually grow into larvae. The hungry larvae feed on the tree, eating new buds and leaves and causing dead areas. If enough decay is caused, the tree will die. The females lay their eggs in the fall. These eggs will overwinter inside the bags until they hatch in May or June. The females may lay as many as 300 to 1,000 eggs in each bag. That's a lot of babies!

Scientifically yours,

Twig

Misty II lived for 26 years, the last half of her life on the Manheim farm of Keith and Kendy Allen. Son Kenneth Allen, 11, rode the pony in the equestrian events of the Chincoteague Pony Drill Team. The Allens often took Misty II to invitational events to which the famous pony was invited.

October Brings The 36th National Apple Harvest Festival

BIGLERVILLE (Adams Co.) — With colorful arts and crafts, hot "off-the-fire apple" butter, toe-tapping country music and hay rides, the 36th annual National Apple Harvest Festival honors the harvest of the number one apple-producing county in Pennsylvania.

Name, in 1999, one of the "10 great places to...hail the fall harvest" in the United States by USA Today, the festival is sponsored by The Upper Adams Jaycees, Biglerville. It's held daily from 8 a.m.-6 p.m., the first two full weekends in Oct. 7-8 and 14-15, at the South Mountain Fairgrounds, Route 234 West of Arendtsville.

The autumn event features four exciting days of apple products, food, arts and crafts and old time farm equipment at the fairgrounds nestled in the foothills of the South Mountains. Relax and take a bus tour that highlights the apple orchards that dot the surrounding countryside.

While enjoying the splendor of autumn's colors, breathe in the crisp autumn air and the spicy aroma of simmering apple butter. Sample the large array of apple products that are also available for purchase. Apple butter, apple cider, apple jelly, apple sauce, apply syrup, and candied apples are made fresh all day long. Don't forget to take home some fresh Adams County apples.

Country-style foods such as chicken barbecue, apple sausage or pit beef or rib eye sandwiches, funnel cakes and other mouth-watering delicacies will be available. Young and old alike will enjoy watching the antique apple peeler and popcorn being made in a kettle over an open fire.

It's entertainment without video games and electronics. Children use their imagination playing in hay and can bob for apples and enter the pie eating contests. They can touch cats, sheep, calves, goats and rabbits in the petting zoo or take a hay ride pulled by a steam engine.

Five stages of entertainment with local and area musicians will play bluegrass, country and western, and rock "n roll. The lively music helps hard-core shoppers and browsers get through their rounds and the stage areas provide seating where festival goers can sit a spell. Strolling acts include an accordionist, clowns, jugglers, and appearances by Adams County Apple Queen Lauren Hankey, Gettysburg.

A major attraction — the 250 arts and crafters — will include jewelry, dried flower arrangements, country crafts, baskets, fabric creations, wood crafts and paintings. Many visitors come every year to get an early start on their Christmas shopping. Not to be missed, antique autos, hit and miss engines, antique farm equipment will beckon the men's attention.

Another popular area is the make-your-own scarecrow booth where those interested get to build their own life-size scarecrow just in time for Halloween.

Artists will be demonstrating and selling their products in much the same fashion as their counterparts of old. The art of spinning, weaving, woodworking, cooper smithing, black smithing, moccasin making, glass blowing, broom making and pottery will be demonstrated throughout the day.

Held rain or shine, the festival is perfect for the whole family who after a day of fun can take home a basketful of memories that will last a lifetime!

For complete programming information for all four days, check out the web site at www.appleharvest.com. Admission is $6 Adults; $5 Senior Citizens; Children under 12 are Free. Parking is included. Pets are not allowed on festival grounds. For families with young children, a diaper changing station is available on the grounds.

For more information, write The National Apple Harvest Festival, P.O. Box 38, Biglerville, PA 17307, call 717-677-9413, fax 717-677-4961, E-mail: appleharvest@cvn.net, or the Gettysburg Convention and Visitors Bureau, 35 Carlisle Street, Gettysburg, PA 17325, 717-334-6274.

Consuming Thoughts by Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

Eating five fruits and vegetables a day is one of the most important choices you can make to help maintain your health. Many fruits and vegetables can be eaten on the run. If you wash them as soon as you return from the store, you can grab them directly from the fruit bowl or crisper on your way out. Berries and grapes are exceptions: wash them the day you eat them.

With today's busy lifestyles, you may want to take advantage of pre-cut, cleaned and packaged fresh fruit and vegetables. Trimmed and cleaned spinach leaves and shredded cabbage are available in supermarkets. Just open the bag and you have the making of a salad or stirfry. Wash and cut up carrots, celery, zucchini, and jicama and keep them ready to eat in the refrigerator. Your vegetable sticks can be kept fresh for days by keeping them wrapped in plastic.

Drinking fruit juice can be as easy as grabbing a can of soda. Try individual servings of 100 percent fruit juice such as orange, pineapple and grapefruit. Keep assorted dried fruits in the glove compartment for a quick snack anytime. Prunes, raisins, dates and dried apricots, peaches and pears are some suggestions.

If you are looking for foods to fit into your busy lifestyle consider:

- an apple in your car
- dried fruit in your desk
- frozen fruits and vegetables
- a carrot in your briefcase
- fruit canned in juice in your pantry
- supermarket salad bars
- a can or bottle of chilled fruit juice

We often hear the saying, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away."

It is important to include apples in your diet and research indicates that apples may actually help reduce serum cholesterol, high blood pressure and the risk of colon cancer, diverticular disease, and strokes. The soluble fiber called pectin in apples has a lowering effect on LDL (so-called "bad") cholesterol without affecting HDL ("good") cholesterol. Insoluble fiber in apples called cellulose helps guard against colon cancer, constipation, and chronic diverticular disease.

Apples have almost no fat and are very low in sodium and a good source of potassium, which can help control high blood pressure and reduce the risk of strokes. One apple also supplies 15 percent of the vitamin C needed daily along with small amounts of calcium, iron, magnesium, phosphorus iron, vitamin A and thiamin.

Here is a quick and easy way to prepare apples in the microwave for your family.

APPLE PANCAKE

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- dash nutmeg
- 2 apples, cored, peeled and sliced
- 2 eggs, separated
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 1 tablespoon sugar

In a 10-inch glass pie plate, microwave butter on high 30 seconds to melt. Add one tablespoon sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and apples. Toss and stir well; arrange apples in single layer in the dish. Microwave on high two minutes. Separate eggs. To yolks add flour, baking powder, and milk; beat well. Beat egg whites separately with one tablespoon sugar until soft peaks form. Fold into egg yolk mixture. Spread butter over apple slices.

Microwave on high three and one-half to four minutes, or until egg mixture is just set. Place flat plate over pie plate, turn over and lift off. Serve with sour cream or whipped cream. Serves two.

Fill Up On Puffy Foods

You can't live on air, but Penn State researchers have shown that big, puffed-up food servings can satisfy better than small, packed-down, calorie-equivalent portions — a fact that can help you feel full on fewer calories.

Study director Dr. Barbara Rolls, who holds the Guthrie Chair in Nutrition in Penn State's College of Health and Human Development, says, "We're not suggesting you try to fill up on lots of airy foods. You might get a stomach ache and would probably burp a lot! But this study does show that you can trick your senses into believing you have eaten more food by pumping up the size of the portion with air."

The study is detailed in the current issue of the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition in a paper, "Increasing the Volume of a Food by Incorporating Air Affects Satiety in Men." The authors are Rolls, Elizabeth Bell, doctoral candidate in nutrition, and Bethany W. Waugh, manager. Laboratory for the study of Human Ingestive Behavior.

The 28 lean men who participated in the study ate breakfast, lunch, and dinner one day a week in the laboratory for four weeks. Thirty minutes before lunch, they were served one of three strawberry smoothies. The researchers made the smoothies with exactly the same ingredients but mixed them for different amounts of time in a blender. The smoothies filled either half, three-quarters or a full glass. The bigger the smoothie the men consumed, the less they ate at lunch. After consuming the biggest smoothie, the men ate 12 percent — or about 100 calories — less lunch than they did when they drank the smallest one — even though both drinks contained the exact same ingredients and the same number of calories.

In her best selling book "Volumetrics," written with Robert Barnett, Rolls explains that the research points to a way to decrease the daily amount of calories you consume while still feeling full and satisfied. Whipped foods, she notes, can be especially useful. "You see a bigger portion, and you get more sensory stimulation as you consume it," the authors write.

"Try whipped foods in moderation such as low-fat frozen desserts. Get creative with blender drinks. Choose air-popped popcorn; its energy density is not low, but it takes three cups to give you 90 calories (try it without butter — add low-fat seasoning instead). Foods with irregular shapes also produce a bigger volume in a given portion because they don't pack down. Think of flaky or puffed cereals. In other words, think big," they add.

"Volumetrics" is full of other suggestions, based on Roll's research for decreasing calorie intake while remaining full and satisfied. The Penn State researcher explains that her group's research has shown that feeling full depends on eating a satisfying amount of food. Tiny portions just don't do it. The energy density of food, or the ratio of calories to the weight of food, is what matters. Foods with a high energy density have lots of calories in a small serving and are typically lower in water or air content. For example, a 100-calorie serving of raisins, a high-energy density food, contains only one-quarter cup. A 100-calorie serving of grapes, a low-energy density, high-water content food, contains one and two-thirds cups.

Farmers And Threshermans Jubilee Marks 48th Year

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

NEW CENTERVILLE (Somerset Co.) — The higher altitude of Somerset County gives into the crispness of fall early making late summer a delightful time for the Farmers and Threshermans Jubilee.

This year marked the 48th annual event which each year, turns the tiny town of New Centerville, into a busy, bustling, area from the day after Labor Day until the end of the following Sunday.

Steam engines of every variety from lawn mowers to giant sized threshers were on display.

Events included a queen contest, out-house dash, quilt show and sale, garden tractor pulling contest, parades, horseshoe pitching, and tractor and truck pulls.

Kiddies Day is on Saturday and children from ages three and up participated in pedal power tractor pulls and hay bale tosses.

For those hunger pangs, which are sure to hit in that mountain air, there was plenty of food.

A huge steam run cider press provided sweet and "no fresher anywhere" cider, which was a good way to wash down the bean soup, which is served in the same building.

Other demonstrations included a ground hog thresher, flailers, horse power with tumbling shaft machine, tread power threshing, first steam engine threshing with hand feeding, self feeder threshing, baling up straw, dog-powered butter churning, corn shelling, corn shredding, keystone well drilling, blacksmithing, feed grinder machine, handle making, and broom making.

Visitors purchased buckwheat flour ground on the site by a Hope Natural Gas Engine restored by Mel Bailey. The engine filled an entire building.

Michael Miller of Somerset displayed engines and old logging trucks, which quickly transports visitors back to the days most of can't even remember. A favorite is an old logging camper that includes a four-legged bathtub.

A craft show and sale accompanied the jubilee.

Quilt makers sometimes found their quilts snatched up by buyers before they had a chance to see their ribbons.

A special feature each year is the "Jubilee Quilt" auction. Now in its 15th year, the quilt features a counted cross-stitch center designating the year. Colors are chosen by quilters who, for the past several years, have been Linda Kovak and Maxine Karns. The 2000 quilt was done in shades of deep green and burgundy quilted in the double Irish chain.

"It takes a lot of quilting," admits Linda who also chairs the quilt show, "but Maxine and I love to quilt."

An auction held on the last day of the show had all proceeds going to the New Centerville Fire Company. This year's quilt was purchased for $2,500 by Nancy Gribble of Gribble Trucking.

"In the early years of the auction, they actually went much higher," Linda says. "The highest was $6,000."

The jubilee is definitely an event, which offers something for everyone.

Harvey Baer of Somerset demonstrates the art of making handles. Harvey says this summer he was sick, so he taught his 14-year-old grandson the trade and he did a wonderful job.

FOR A CHANGING WORLD.

Home economist Carol Stafford cooked up 12 recipes and dished out timesaving, nutrition, and decorating tips during a recent cooking school.

Chefs Converge On Cooking Show

MICHELLE RANCK
Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — One can never know everything about foods or have too many recipes, principles demonstrated recently to approximately 1300 participants who came to Lancaster Mennonite High School to attend a cooking show.

Besides learning time-saving or decorating tips from home economist Carol Stafford, participants watched as she prepared a variety of dishes which included chicken, mashed potato, pizza, quesadilla, beef stew, pie and cake recipes.

"Every recipe is kitchen-tested and uses ingredients readily found in the home or supermarket," said Stafford, home economist for Homemaker Schools in Greendale, Wis.

A Bernardsville, N.J. resident, Stafford now travels extensively on her 11-state, 40,000 mile cooking show tour. Stafford speaks from both an educational and experience standpoint, as she not only has a food and nutrition degree from Florida International University but is also the mother of two children.

Convenience was another requirement for the demonstrated recipes. "Do you know that 70 percent of us do not know what we're having for dinner until 4:00 in the afternoon?" asked Stafford.

Dinnertime Cooking Tips

For a one-skillet dish which used chicken and sweet potatoes, Stafford recommended choosing even-skinned sweet potatoes with few blemishes. "The darker the potato, the sweeter and moister it will be," said Stafford. Sweet potatoes should be stored not in the fridge but at room temperature, said Stafford. "The starches turn to sugar in the refrigerator," said Stafford.

For a pizza recipe, Stafford recommended transferring the Bisquick from its original bag to a resealable plastic bag, then putting the new bag back in the easily-recognizable box. "Don't mash or bang the Bisquick, just lightly fill it in," said Stafford as she measured the ingredients.

As the dough formed, Stafford advised cooking show students that two minutes would be sufficient to mix the dough, as over-mixing will toughen the dough ball. Also, placing wax paper or cellophane wrap on top of the dough ball before rolling the ball will keep the rolling pin from sticking to the dough.

A pasta-and-tomato dish which used rosemary provided an opportunity to teach participants about the member of the mint family. "You should crush the needles," said Stafford. "That releases the aromatic oils for a more flavorful dish. It has a combination of a lemon and piney flavor and is available fresh, dried or whole leaf," she said.

"If you're cooking with canned vegetables and the dish needs water to cook, add the water from the canned veggies to boost the nutritional value," said Stafford.

Cheese was an ingredient in many of the featured dishes.

"Have you ever heard the saying, 'Chicken without cheese is like a kiss without a squeeze'?", asked Stafford as she prepared another cheesy dish.

Food Presentation

Stafford also served up decorating tips. "For your tabletop, put a votive candle inside a small cookie cutter," said Stafford. An apple with the top hollowed out held a votive candle for another fall decoration.

Another time-saving idea was spraying the inside of a measuring cup with cooking spray to help honey come out easily. Stafford brushed honey along the side of a plate and sprinkled the honey with chopped peanuts to garnish an Asian noodle dish.

For another garnish, Stafford dressed up the rich chocolate cake with dark chocolate curls. To make the curls she recommended using a vegetable peeler on chocolate that was at least room temperature. An inverted glass bowl turned the crystal plate into a pedestaled piece for the show, an easy way of making a cake stand.

Stafford also garnished the salmon spread dish with small cookie cutter bell pepper cutouts of leaves placed carefully along the edges of the dish.

Cooking show students learned another quick tip during the mint pie demonstration. "Do you want to take a pie to a family gathering but don't have time to make the crust from scratch?" asked Stafford.

To move the crust from the aluminum plate to your own dish, simply brush one beaten egg white on the inside of the pie crust and bake at 375 for 5 minutes, cool, then invert the pie on the plastic lid, take it out of the aluminum, and place your own plate over the bottom of the crust before flipping the plate and crust to an upright position.

Produced by Homemaker Schools, the cooking tour was launched in 1993 by Reiman publication's "Taste of Home" magazine. The tour is supported by national and area food companies.

Besides watching the cooking show, participants received door prizes donated by area businesses. Prizes included bags of groceries, a microwave, floral bouquets, plants, gift baskets, cookbooks, and a stuffed singing raccoon.

Lancaster Newspapers helped to coordinate the show which was co-sponsored by Stauffers of Kissel Hill.

Stafford takes time out to answer questions during a break in the action at the cooking show.

North Mountain 4-H

The last meeting of the North

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

It's hard to believe that it is almost October. The last of the summer picnics have been held. In one case, another lady and I were put in charge of the program. Instead of getting expensive entertainment, we decided to be the program ourselves. We both spoke on our interests and hobbies and illustrated them too. Our classmates seemed to enjoy the program.

The tall green corn is gradually disappearing from the fields as the silos are filled. One piece of equipment cut and chopped six rows at a time or three acres in an hour. With bare fields, it will certainly seem like fall. Now our four resident deer will have to find a new home and new food although there are still plenty of woods for them to hide in.

My husband told me that he really likes bananas and so when I saw a peck for 99 cents, I bought them. What to do with 25 ripe bananas? First I gave the grandchildren each a bag to take home. Then we put them on our breakfast cereal. And, finally, I had to make two pans of banana bread. I had not made any for years and I had forgotten how it looked.

Oh yes, I must mention the fact that we have a new grandson — at our age. Some of our friends are great, great grandparents. Our little number 15 was born in Indiana to our youngest daughter and her husband. Now the father has three boys to tend as she works full time as a human resource manager. They moved from Texas last summer and bought a house on a lake. They think that we should visit them as they are always visiting us.

Mountain 4-H Club was Aug. 26 at Mrs. Bushongs house for 4-H roundup.

Roundup started at 1 p.m. Games played were badminton, hula-hoop contests, jump roping contests, water balloons, and three-legged races.

Dinner was served at 5:30 p.m. Before dinner, awards were presented to club members and to the officers.

North Mountain 4-H Club's new fall projects are air riflery, Adopt-A-Tree, backyard poultry, cake decorating, crafts, dog obedience, entomology, old tractor restoration, vet science, wildlife, and woodworking. For community service projects, the club is still collecting soda tabs to give to the Ronald McDonald House.

Youth Event

York County 4-H member Cory Stump received second place honors at the Pennsylvania State 4-H Achievement Days Horse Presentation Contest in August.

This accomplishment qualifies him to represent Pennsylvania 4-H in the horse demonstration contest at Quarter Horse Congress in Columbus, Ohio.

Stump will present his illustrated talk, titled "HYPP — The Quarter Horse Killer," Oct. 12.

The objectives of this contest are to help youth gain self-confidence, to develop their ability to illustrate their horse knowledge and share it with others, and to develop skills in effective organization and presentation.

Play Dough Clay

½ cup cornstarch

½ cup table salt

½ cup hot water

½ cup cold water

2 drops food coloring, optional

In large saucepan, mix together salt and hot water. Boil over high heat.

In small bowl, place cold water and stir in cornstarch. Mix well and add food coloring, if desired. Add cornstarch mixture to boiling salt water. Stir vigorously to keep from lumping. Cook over low heat, stirring, until mixture is stiff.

Remove from heat. Using large spoon, carefully turn mixture onto bread board. Let cool, then knead until smooth. Use immediately or store in airtight container. If desired, clay play dough can be preserved by air drying at room temperature for three days or baking at 200 degrees for two hours.

1½ cup water

Mix together ingredients with fingers. If too stiff, add more water, then knead for 5 minutes. Form into shapes. Add hooks before they dry. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Thicker pieces may need more time. Pieces should be hard when stuck with a toothpick. If soft, bake longer. After cooled, paint as desired. Coat with shellac.

Short On Numbers But Long On Quality At Denver Fair

MICHELLE RANCK
Farming Staff

Although numbers may not be the hallmark of Denver's sheep show, top-notch animals showed up to compete in the market and breeding classes.

Judged by Dr. Robert Herr of Narvon, owner of Nix Besser farm, the Denver sheep show was marked by quality in both market and breeding sheep divisions.

"We had a very strong market show tonight," said Dr. Herr.

"Some of the best of the state are here," said Herr of the breeding sheep show. "You don't have quite the numbers but you certainly do have the quality."

In the market lamb show, grand and reserve champions came from the heavyweight division.

Champion showman of the Denver fair, Jen Zimmerman, 18, took "Sheree," a Horned Dorset, to the champion ewe spot over the other breeds. Zimmerman selected Sheree from more than 65 breeding and market sheep at her home farm in Reinholds.

"I think it's neat that two Dorsets won," Zimmerman said of the champion and reserve champion ewes.

Radell Peters, 17, Elizabethtown, comes to the Denver fair because of tradition. Peters won reserve champion ewe with his Dorset.

"I've been here for nine years," said Peters. "It's a nice show, a fun show, there's no pressure."

"It's a laugh-, have-fun, show-your-sheep fair," agreed Zimmerman.

Show grand champion ram placing went to "Dakota" and Jimmy Zimmerman, 16, also of Reinholds. Zimmerman also shows beef on the show ring circuit. Jen and Jimmy are the children of Jay and JoAnn Zimmerman.

First-timers and experienced show ring sheep paired up to win in the class. Sarah Boyd's "Deno" took home grand champion market lamb, a winner already this year in the show ring, and Ryan Donough's "Autumn" won reserve champion in the lamb's first show ring appearance. Donough, 16, Manheim, is debating about taking Autumn, actually born in the spring, to more of the season's upcoming shows.

"I wasn't sure how she was going to do," said Donough. "I was pretty surprised."

Boyd, 19, Ephrata, is a sophomore elementary education major at Millersville University. This is her 11th show ring season. Besides winning the market lamb show, Boyd took home champion pair of market lamb honors. Andrew Gerhart took home reserve champion. Boyd also won reserve champion showman.

Many of the Denver fair's sheep show participants will be showing their animals at the upcoming Ephrata, New Holland and Manheim fairs.

A complete list of results are as follows:

The Dorset breed came to the top in the ewe classes with Jen Zimmerman's Horned Dorset taking home grand champion and Radell Peters' Dorset with reserve.

KILE To Conduct Shepherd's Lead Line

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Who looks better, the sheep or the shepherd?

Judges will tell at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) Shepherd's lead line competition Saturday, Oct. 7 at noon at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The normal procedure at a livestock show is for the animal to be all primped and lovely, but in the lead line competition, the leadsman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit (at least 80 percent wool).

Not just another pretty face can steal the show. The herdsman must not only look great, but the sheep must also show their modeling talents. The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring. Spokespersons point out the virtues of wool at ringside. It is a product that has been around forever and in recent years is making a well-deserved comeback.

KILE is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission.

Saturday Is Family Day

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) has chosen Saturday, Oct. 7 as Family Day at the Farm Show Complex.

Lebanon Valley Farmers/Fulton Bank is sponsoring the "Agri-Kid Olympics" at noon. The Olympics is a fun time for kids as they compete in such farm-related events as sack races, wheelbarrow races, laughing contest, horseshoe pitch, and hog-calling contest.

The Kiddie Pedal Power Tractor Pull, sponsored by Evergreen Tractor Sales at Myers-town, is a special event very similar to the big tractor pulls seen at many county fairs. Children must preregister previous to the event, which will be at 3 p.m. The event is limited to 80 participants.

Kessler's "Barnyard" is open all week long providing a unique experience for the children to actually touch farm animals such as calves, sheep, and pigs.

Harteis was owner also of the Holstein reserve champion with a junior 3-year-old, Friend-Lea B-Leader Daisey.

Jeffrey Kuzar's 6-year-old Brown Swiss, Ava, was the grand champion and Deion, a 4-year-old, was named reserve champion.

"She is out of a good herd," said Kuzar, referring to Ava, a daughter out of Forest Lawn Tradition ET and Donsdell Conductor Sharl. The teenager said his family has a dairy farm with a small mixed herd composed of Jersey, Brown Swiss, Holstein, and Ayrshire dairy animals.

The brother-sister business continued into the Guernsey breed for the Strittmatter family when 14-year-old Joe again showed the grand champion with

LMA Blasts Latest USDA Delay In Calling For Beef Checkoff Vote

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Following a recent USDA decision that will push a vote on the beef checkoff into at least 2001, Livestock Marketing Association President John Willis said, "It's time to start treating American beef producers like citizens, and not suspects."

Willis commented following notification from USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, which has had LMA's referendum petitions for 10 months. AMS said the petition validation/verification process will now be turned over to an outside accounting firm.

"Our understanding," Willis said, "is that USDA will take bids from national accounting firms to verify the petition signatures. USDA will require that the process be completed by Dec. 1, with an incentive bonus if it's completed by Nov. 3."

"That means we will have had numerous primary elections, two national political conventions, a Presidential election, and elections in 50 states, in less time than it will take USDA to decide one simple question: do beef producers have the right to decide whether to keep spending their own money on the checkoff?"

Willis added that the validation procedures USDA is requiring the accounting firm to use "are a recipe for failure." Among other things, these procedures will require producers who signed the petitions to prove, with documents, that they sold cattle during 1998 or 1999.

The contractor's work, USDA says in documents provided to LMA, must have a "maximum error rate" of 0 percent, and must all be done by mail survey. "Mr. Secretary," Willis wrote in a letter to USDA Secretary Dan Glickman, "to how many of the mail surveys which come into your home do you respond?" especially when they come "from someone not personally known to you?"

And how likely, Willis asked Glickman, are you to mail someone you don't know "personal financial documents" such as a bill of sale?

LMA believes, Willis wrote, "that the error rate inherent in this type of survey is far larger than any error rate in connection with petition signatures," and that the "errors inherent in the survey techniques" will be blamed on those seeking a checkoff, just as they were blamed on producers seeking a pork checkoff referendum.

The failure of this validation process, Willis said, "will be used to justify not calling a referendum. That result will be totally unjust and unacceptable."

LMA, which led the national drive to obtain a referendum vote, delivered 146,000 petitions to USDA in November 1999. Of these, 126,000 were signed within a qualifying period.

In addition to the paper petitions, LMA provided USDA with a CD-ROM disk, into which all of the petitions had been entered in a Microsoft database format, so they could be handled expeditiously by USDA. Instead, the database itself became the subject of a five-month "verification" project, and an additional justification for delay.

"This process has gone on long enough," Willis said. "The hundreds of thousands of producers who signed our petitions are now asking, 'What has USDA been doing for almost a year? And why do taxpayer dollars continue to be spent on a process USDA is supposed to have been handling for the past ten months?"

"Instead of putting these signatures under a microscope, USDA should be investigating the millions of producer dollars being illegally spent on so-called 'producer communications,' which use checkoff money as campaign funds to tell producers how wonderful the checkoff is."

The petition signers have been under a cloud of suspicion for far too long, he said, while USDA's delays and mishandling of the verification process are the real issues. "At a minimum, we think producers should get the 'benefit of the doubt,'" Willis said. "We're merely asking for USDA to stop considering 'vote' a four-letter word."

He pointed out that in the 10 months USDA has had the LMA petitions, about $44 million has been collected and spent by the beef promotion and research program. "Until the agency gives producers a vote, sadly, what this industry has is a checkoff program, without checks and balances."

"Finally," Willis said, "producers will be asked for their vote in this fall's national elections. They should ask the candidates — and particularly their current members of Congress — why USDA should be allowed to continue to ignore their statutory responsibility to enforce the Beef Act and Order, and drag out this process. Time has run out on this process, and it's time for those who pay, to have the final say — immediately."

an internally mounted gearbox inside of an expanded, bell shaped tube housing. Auger flighting is positioned to allow a high volume of unrestricted grain flow around the internal gearbox. A new intake design utilizes double flighting and a cupped intake guard to offer a high capacity, complete cleanout operation. A specially engineered hopper bolts directly to top of the intake guard, further enhancing the augers capacity.

The InLine Drive

Unique in design, high in efficiency.

The gearbox is located "InLine" with the actual auger flighting. The outer tube is expanded to allow unobstructed and efficient flow of grain past the gear drive section. This design proves to be both economical and low maintenance in operation.

EXCLUSIVE Boot Guard with Agitator

- Heavy-service, belt-type guard attached to sturdy hinge on boot.
- Guard rests on flights - movement of flights provides agitating action - keeps material or silage out of boot and moving up the elevator.

Includes incline hopper, motor mount, and required belts. Set Up and Ready to Go - Just mount motor (not included) and install shields. Optional polywear liner protects pan - super-slick, self-lubricating liner prevents freeze-down...reduces chain stretching...increases chain and pan life, cuts noise levels and lowers energy consumption by up to 30%.

- Easy to handle - sturdily built
- Light weight - rust resistant - never needs painting
- Enclosed bottom trough for clean chain return and extra strength
- Take-up for chain at idler shaft - easily tightened without affecting drive adjustments.
- Dropout hole with gate - helps prevent returning cobs and husks from jamming in boot end of elevator. Allows returning cobs and husks to fall out before reaching boot. Gate can be quickly closed when materials other than cob corn are being conveyed.
- Plow-contour corded rubber flights designed for maximum efficiency, minimum ride-up.

TAKE NOTE FROM YOUR PLANTER DEALER

BINKLEY-HURST & KINZE BROS. INC.

Mr. Planter Owner:

Thank you for taking a minute to consider this offer.

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. is offering a preseason inspection and evaluation of your planter for the purpose of identifying worn, broken, or malfunctioning parts. Many times, seemingly insignificant wear will affect the accuracy of your planter more than you realize. If nothing else, it may be time to have your finger pickup meters checked on our test stand. Also, new innovations, attachments and options are constantly being introduced which may be of interest to you for installation on your planter.

Binkley & Hurst parts and service personnel are specifically trained and informed planter specialists, ready to examine your planter with you! If you determine that the planting proficiency of your planter could be improved with our service, we would be happy to provide that service for you, and a technician would return at a later date to assist you in doing the work. We encourage you to be part of the actual servicing so that any pointers or insight, which the technician may have for you with regard to planter operation, could be conveyed at that time.

What does it cost?

If you set up an appointment for a planter evaluation, you will be charged a flat fee:

4 or 6 row planter	$175.00
8 row planter	$200.00
12 or 16 row planter	$225.00

(Customers over 100 miles travel, subject to mileage charge.)

At time of inspection we will recommend to you any item needing attention, also at that time we will remove your seed meters to take in for testing if you so desire.

Save $4.00 per meter by scheduling your testing before Feb. 1, 2001.

If you have any questions, please contact the service department at 717-626-4705.

Twin-Line® Planters

...from the field to the road in seconds

KINZE's Exclusive Rotating In-Line Transport: the only system that offers you narrow transport on large planters equipped with narrow row Interplant® or fertilizer options. As narrow as most tractor duals

The unique, patented hydraulic "lift & rotate" system features a rugged, heavy-duty stainless steel clad center post (on both 3500 and 3600 models) which rotates on large tapered bearings seated at the base of the post. (Model 3400 uses a parallel linkage system with dual lift cylinders.)

• UHMW plastic pads glide up and down against the smoothly machined surface. Absolutely no lubrication is required. (3500 and 3600)

• A self-contained counter-balance valve in the lift cylinder provides additional safety when the planter is in the raised position. The planter will not lower without hydraulic pressure from the tractor. (3400 and 3500)

• A Spring-loaded latch/hook secures the planter while it's in the fully raised position by locking the toolbar in place (3600)

Cambria County Conducts 4-H Sale

EBENSBURG (Cambria Co.) — The Cambria County 4-H Livestock Sale was conducted Thursday, Sept. 7 at the Cambria County Fairgrounds.

One hundred ninety-six 4-H animals were sold, grossing $102,203.23.

The sale, which lasted nearly four and half hours, brought buyers from Cambria and neighboring counties which supported local 4-H'ers.

The livestock auction was composed of 112 market hogs which averaged $1.36 per pound, 16 meat pen rabbits which averaged $13.09 per pound, 23 market lambs which averaged $1.26 per pound, five market goats which averaged $1.50 per pound, 15 veal calves which averaged $1.07 per pound, and 24 steers which averaged $1.01 per pound.

The grand champion market hog exhibited by Michael Weyant of Windber started the livestock auction. Weyant received a bid of $2.95 per pound from Dr. Kerry Kirsch for his prize-winning animal. Megan Skebeck of Patton paraded her reserve hog through the sale ring with the winning bid of $2.40 per pound to Agway Energy Products.

Scott Strittmatter of Ebensburg paraded his grand champion market lamb through the auction block with the winning bid of $3.30 per pound from Direct Value Outlet. The reserve exhibited by Jamie Johns of Johnstown was also purchased by Direct Value

Outlet for a price of $2 per pound.

Long Hardwoods paid a premium price of $2.85 per pound purchasing the grand champion market goat, exhibited by Karen McMullen of Ashville. Clairissa Myers of Ashville presented her reserve goat to the buyers before receiving a bid of $1.35 per pound from Long Barn, Inc.

Blarney Stone Personal Care purchased the grand champion veal of Kelly Myers of South Fork for $1.10 per pound. The reserve of Krystal Heinlein of Summerhill topped the veal with a bid of $2 per pound from Alex Froehlich Packing Co.

Andy Myers of South Fork received a bid of $2.95 per pound from Hoss's Steak and Sea House on the grand champion market steer. Hoss's then donated the champion back for resale with proceeds going to the 4-H scholarship fund. Alex Froehlich Packing Company purchased the animal through the resale. The reserve exhibited by Kelly Myers of South Fork was awarded a bid of $1.20 per pound from Kosta's Restaurant.

Everlast Roofing, Inc. Metal Roofing & Siding

The Ultimate G-100 Process "The Best"

1. Valspar 10S Finish Coat
2. Epoxy Primer
3. Zinc Phosphate Pretreatment
4. G-100 Zinc Coating
5. Full Hard Steel (80,000 min. yield)
6. Heat formed less paint cracks
7. Everlast II

NOTE! It is more important what is under the paint than what you see on top!

- 1 One of the best paints, superior acid rain, cracking resistance and color retention
- 2 Primer coat promotes outstanding top coat adhesion
- 3 Zinc phosphate pretreatment This is a very important process - if your current supplier cannot supply you with this or does not know, you should reconsider
- 4 G-100 Galvanized Most metal roofing has approx. 40% less galvanized under the paint G-100 is more galvanized than most unpainted panels
- 5 Full Hard Anything less than full hard will bend easier lower snow loads, etc.
- 6 Heat formed Metal is painted before ribs are formed. Most paint cracks at bends heat forming greatly reduces cracks (check metal siding that is installed for 5-10 years)
- 7 Stronger design superior strength, more metal per L F
- 8 Add Everything Together And Price Should Be $53.37 Per Square $1.69 Per L F

OUR SPECIAL PRICE ONLY
$46.74 PER SQUARE
$1.48 PER LINEAL FT.

Waterbeds for Cows

ALANTA
a member of the UniPoly group of companies
Petersen Handling

The ALANTA Waterbed for cows is a revolutionary product, comfortable, safe and hygienic. It clearly improves your cows' well-being and therefore promotes higher milk production. It is the ultimate stall floor covering for the modern, animal-friendly dairy farm.

WELL MADE
The ALANTA Waterbed is made of two rubber layers with a water-filled compartment in between. GD-Enerka gives a 12-year guarantee.

COMFORTABLE
The waterbed molds itself to the cow's shape. It's cool in summer and pleasantly warm in winter.

SAFE
Thanks to the non-slip rubber upper surface, the cow is gripped firmly and cannot slip off. In this way the ALANTA waterbed keeps damage to hooves to a minimum.

We Continue To Have Beautiful Llamas For Sale

Our llamas are halter trained, eat out of our hand, and are friendly.
They can be used for packing, coyote protection, for wool, as pets, for stress reduction, as well as for a way of life. We have been in the llama business for 14 years, and will give advice and follow-up on the llamas we sell. They are all registered with the International Llama Registry. We can help you get started with a small herd of llamas at a reasonable price. We offer day llama treks, including a meal. Visit our farm and see what we have to offer!

LOG CABIN HORSE FARM Plus Catalog

Offering a new approach to horse keeping!!!

Are you tired of having your horses stand in wet stalls? Would you like to dry them out and save money on bedding at the same time? Are you tired of the mud holes your horses make outside the barn door or off the end of the concrete? Would you like a solid surface around your outside hay feeder that allows moisture to soak through to the ground below?

If this sounds good, give me a call and I will explain how it works and how much it costs.

CUSTOM MIX PROGRAM

GIVES YOU

OPTIONS IN FEEDING

Your Dairy Herd

Call us today for a feeding program built to fit your Dairy Herd and your Production Goals.

For maximum performance and income over feed cost, rations should be balanced to provide the optimum levels of degradable and undegradable protein, nonstructural and structural (fiber) carbohydrate as well as minerals and vitamins. This allows for maximum utilization of the rumen microbes and total ration efficiency. Because your needs may be different from your neighbor's, we adjust the following nutrients and ingredients to fit your needs and goals

- Amino Acids
- Protein
- By-Pass Protein
- Energy
- Fiber

- Calcium
- Phosphorus
- Salt
- Vitamins & Trace Minerals
- Organic Trace Minerals

- Multi-Protein Sources
- Added Animal Fat
- Rumen Inert Fats
- Buffers
- Yeast
- Zinpro

NOT ALL DETACHABLE PLOWS ARE CREATED EQUAL!

- Drive-in attachments eliminate struggling with a heavy blade and attachments
- Vertical Jack Stand guarantees proper height alignment
- Two permanently mounted connecting pins means there's no chance of dropping them in the snow or losing them during storage
- One Piece detachable (not two) means faster on and off

The Key To Easy Operation Is In Your Hand.

See Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today! Ask For Dean

This new state of the art, electronic control can be used with either the Solenoid EHP or the EC/SV Hydraulic System

- "CB" style mounting clip provided
- Unplugs for glovebox storage
- Automatic shut-off if not in use and automatic float in "down" position

THREE PLOWS IN ONE!

Break through deep drifts in the "V" position or carry and stack in the "scoop" mode or use this 8-1/2' plow in the straight or angled position for conventional plowing.

All blade functions are right in the palm of your hand with the hand-held FISH-STIK® control. The minute Mount System® for easy on/off, trip-edge blade and double acting cylinders, all make the EZ-V plow the ultimate plow for the professional plower.

HORSE FARM
Catalog Plus

Offering a new approach to horse keeping!!!

Are you tired of having your horses stand in wet stalls? Would you like to dry them out and save money on bedding at the same time? Are you tired of the mud holes your horses make outside the barn door or off the end of the concrete? Would you like a solid surface around your outside hay feeder that allows moisture to soak through to the ground below?

If this sounds good, give me a call and I will explain how it works and how much it costs.

become a 4-H volunteer!

Across the country, 4-H will celebrate National 4-H Week 2000 from Sunday, October 1 – Saturday, October 7. National 4-H Week, celebrated annually, provides recognition to the 6.6 million youth involved in 4-H programs and the 6.3 million 4-H volunteers.

4-H volunteers range in age from 13 to well over 70. Many of them, though not all, are 4-H alumni who wish to give back to the organization that they benefited from. They come from a wide array of economic situations and backgrounds and share the common interest of youth development.

Whether planning summer camp, assisting with raising steers, or teaching electricity, the skills volunteers bring to 4-H strengthen it and help the young people. Over and over, volunteers say they concentrate on what they can contribute, yet are amazed at what they gain.
